Name Calling

Backyard Toolshed Prompts D.C. Clash

Discussion concerning the legality of a backyard tool shed built on West Moltke street in Daly City deteriorated into a neighborhood name calling session at a city council meeting Monday.

It was the second clash between residents of the street and plumber Louis Maldonado.

Two weeks ago a similar hassle erupted between Maldonado and a group of neighbors protesting his trucks blocking their driveways.

At that meeting the city council instructed both sides to try to patch up their differences while the city looked into the 6' by 24' shed built in Maldonado's backyard.

But the differences remained at Monday's meeting and the two sides in the neighborhood dispute were still split.

Maldonado is accused by neighbors of blocking the sidewalk with plumbing supplies unloaded from trucks prior to storage in the shed.

Maldonado denied most of the charges, including the location of his business.

Through his attorney, Hartley Appleton, Maldonado claimed his business address as 1859 Egbert Street, San Francisco. The council was told that all supplies had been removed from the shed and transferred to the San Francisco address following the council meeting of two weeks ago.

City Attorney Albert Polonsky pointed out the fact that Maldonado's business address listed with the State and in local phone books is 175 West Moltke Street — not San Francisco as claimed.

Furthermore, Polonsky noted, the contractor has never applied for a Daly City business license or a permit to build the shed.

Appleton called the incident "a sad situation when neighbors have to take (such) problems to the city council."

The attorney presented the council with a petition signed by 45 residents of the street in support of Maldonado. The petition was later backed up verbally by several neighbors who appeared on Maldonado's behalf, calling him a "good neighbor."

Mayor Bernard J. Lycett said the question before the council was not whether Maldonado was a good neighbor, but rather if the tool shed is legal and if, indeed, Maldonado was using his home as a business office.

Appleton conceded that his client used his home to receive telephone messages and that in the past a small amount of plumbing supplies was kept in the shed. However this was a situation that exists throughout the county, the attorney said.

"There are others doing this," Appleton said.

"And just as soon as we find out who they are we'll take action," Polonsky responded.

Teacher Pleads Not Guilty To Morals Charge on Coast

By BOB PETERSON

Milton Martin, 57-year-old Pacifica elementary school teacher, pleaded not guilty Monday morning to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Martin, arraigned before South San Francisco Municipal Court Judge Walter Capaccioli, is scheduled to appear April 5 at 9:30 a.m. for a jury trial.

The fifth grade teacher at Sharp Park Elementary School was arrested March 1 after photographs he allegedly took, and purportedly showing the posterior of one of his students, came to the attention of school authorities.

Martin has been suspended, pending outcome of the charge, which states in part that his photographic activity "tends to cause (youths) to be in danger of leading an immoral life."

Martin, who has taught in Pacifica schools for 12 years, and nine in Sharp Park, talked freely about the incident in the court lobby, as did his attorney, Clarence B. Knight of Millbrae.

According to Knight, the complaint originated because his client was taking "some semi-nude" pictures "for art purposes." He explained poses included two fifth graders in Indian loincloth and a 16-year-old with a cloth draped over his shoulder down to the floor.

"There were no passes, nor any immoral talk," said Martin. "And there was no criminal intent." He claims the incident has been "blown out of proportion."

Martin said he has been doing similar type photographic work for the entire 12 years he's been teaching in Pacifica, as part of making 8mm films using students as models. "It is meant to give them experience in film making," said Martin.

Martin, incidentally, was in the commercial advertising business for 16 years prior to "giving up the rat race" and going back to school for a teaching credential.

He said that his art background has been useful in his teaching. "Life drawing is part of the curriculum," said Martin. "The human figure is not indecent."

Martin said previous works he has done with his classes, using similar photographic techniques, have resulted in accolades from his superiors, and one effort won a first prize some time ago in a statewide film showing.

This particular incident came to light, according to Martin, because prints from a black and white film he had sent to Mountain View to be processed somehow ended up in the Laguna Salada Elementary School District offices.

Knight explained that the commercial photo shop apparently took it upon themselves to make extra prints, which initially were sent to San Clara school district offices.

The pictures in question were taken during noon hour class breaks in preparation for a project depicting Lief Erickson's first trip to America, according to Martin.

He said that he had them processed commercially because he had nothing to hide. "In one shot, one of the models happened to be turned in such a way that it showed his backside," explained Martin.

"There is nothing lewd about them," said Knight.

Martin said the two photo sessions were separate. One with the 10 and 11-year-old fifth graders, the other with a 16 year old former student of Martin's.

Martin said "It didn't even occur to me to contact the parents" for permission to do the photography.

Added Life

For Mussel

Rock Dump?

The Daly City City Council is expected to act favorably on a request to extend the life of the Mussel Rock dump site for an additional year until March 13.

City Manager David Rowe said he favored approval of a request made by the Daly City Company to allow an additional ten years of dumping at the site.

The present area being used to dump refuse will be complete within six years. Richard Dwyer, accountant for the scavenger firm, told the council Monday.

Expenditures totalling some half-million dollars will be required during the next seven years to keep the company operating at a modern-day level, company President Aladeno Serini explained in a letter to the city.

Included in the capital improvement outlay is the preparation of some 70 acres of land in a canyon behind the present dumping site; moving of an estimated 75,000 cubic yards of dirt; purchase of a rebuilt Caterpillar D8 tractor and an earthmover; periodic updating of collection trucks, and, a $150,000 "garbage grinder."

"The grinder," if purchased, would perhaps extend the life of the site.

Guadalupe Clinic's Financial Woes Told

A Daly City free health clinic that has helped some 4,000 low income persons since it first opened its doors in July of last year is in dire financial trouble.

Protests at San Bruno Plans Meet

Protests were sounded at Monday night's meeting of the San Bruno Planning Commission to at least three major aspects of the city's proposed revised Land Use Plan.

Planners finally continued the hearing to the April 3 meeting.

Surprisingly, the largest number of protests appeared to center around one aspect that had been in the land use plan for the past 16 years — the proposed industrialization of the Belle Air neighborhood. This largely single family neighborhood is located east of the railroad tracks.

Planning Consultant Larry Wise explained that although under new state law, by 1973, the city's zoning map must be in substantial conformity with the land use plan, this would not apply to Belle Air, since the plan specifies that it would be 1990 before Belle Air would be reclassified for industrial use.

Mrs. Rose Urbach of 440 Euclid declared that "these people who live in the Belle Air area have sacrificed to the development of San Bruno. . . . They have endured dirt hauls and dust. . . . Now — I don't know where you're going to push them. Into the Bay?"

the clinic's two doctors and related expenditures. Additionally, some $6,000 is being federally funded through the Regional Medical Program for staff payments.

Because it is a multi-racial plan and because the clinic sponsors have already shown there is a need for the facility in the North County, Miss Fernandez is optimistic that the federal government will come through with the monies.

If they do it will be a first for the country. There are no such facilities in the nation under President Nixon's new Health Care proposals.

Ron Marshall, executive secretary of the County Health Planning Program, said the question of "how will the clinic continue" is uppermost in the minds of those who support it.

The clinic needs a "stopgap proposal" in an effort to buy time until applications for government grants are acted upon, he explained.

Applications submitted to his office by the clinic earlier this week were turned over to CHP staff for study. The staff was instructed to return with their recommendation on April 22.

Meanwhile, an interim financial solution must be found.

Guadalupe Health Clinic must develop its own plans, Marshall said, while explaining he was not endorsing the facility by pointing this fact up.

At the present time there are "simply too many unanswered questions," he feels. Perhaps these questions will be answered during the current study, he said.

But money is tight at this time.

The county is now facing a $2.1 million deficit in health funding as a result of the present reformation of certain facilities and the closing of some programs.

One of the major questions facing health facilities and programs in the county is whether such satellite clinics as Guadalupe — strictly for the poor — should continue to exist or be incorporated into larger plans that encompass all persons, regardless of income.

All persons should get the best medical treatment possible and people with low incomes should not get second rate medical attention, many government health planners feel.

Each office contacted indicated that Dr. George Pickett, head of the county Health and Welfare department, holds the key to future funding of the clinic.

His recommendation to the Board of Supervisors will determine whether future funding commitments will be made by the county to continue the program.

Presently monies are running out for the Drew Clinic in East Palo Alto and the supervisors must come up with a financial decision on this established facility, perhaps as much as $250,000.

Finances at the Guadalupe Health Clinic must be stabilized.

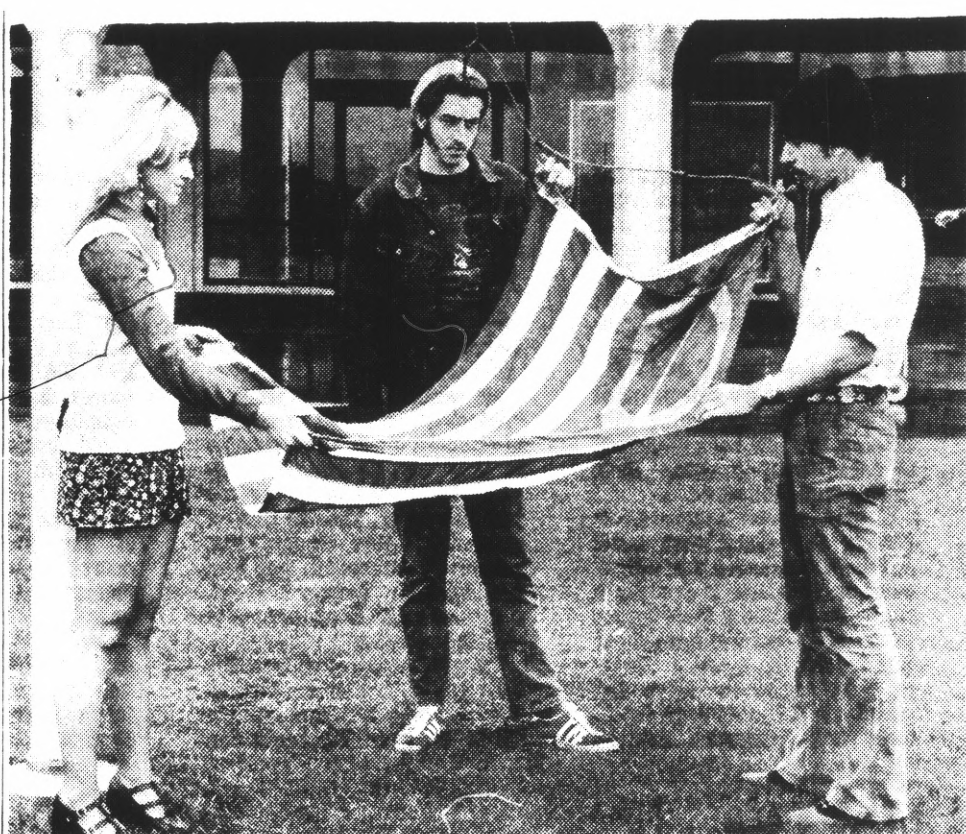

Those in the profession note that to operate a first class medical clinic on a continuing schedule costs between $400,000-$450,000 per year.

Persons connected with Guadalupe Health Clinic lack funds but not enthusiasm for what they are doing, a visitor to the crowded office learns.

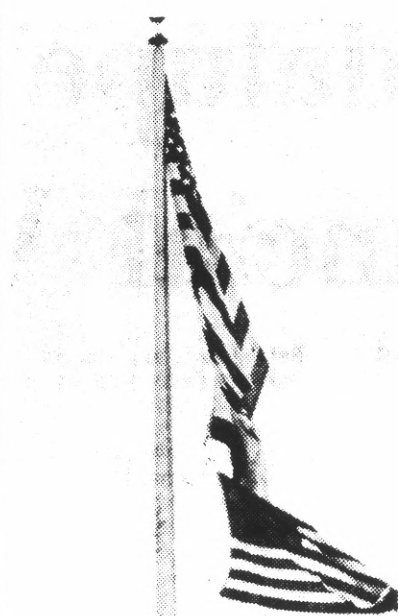

Doctors Daphne Chisholm and Anthony Mattoni receive $50 per shift for their work. The "set" hours of operation are from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

"They have never left at 10 p.m.," Miss Fernandez said. "Often they leave at 1 a.m. And when they leave here they go to the hospital (Mary's Help where several beds are pledged to low income patients) to check on patients."

Guadalupe Health Clinic will never close," Miss Fernandez said in response to a question regarding funding. "even if both the supervisors and federal government fail us."

was the plan for Phase III of the Place, to have gone in on the east side of Cherry Avenue extension.

The planners held over an application from Lincoln Properties, owners of the Place, or Grant apartment complex, to subdivide their project into three parcels, of 8, 5.5 and 3.1 acres. According to City Engineers Leo Van Dusen, the reason for the proposal was that part of the complex was to have been financed under FHA which requires that assessments be paid in cash. The planners adjourned their meeting to their March 20 study meeting to act upon the matter, since no representative of Lincoln Properties was present to answer questions.

Major concern of the planners was that past approval of Phase I and Phase II of The Place had been predicated upon the overall recreation, landscaping and parking facilities of the project.

In other business, the planners: —Approved a use permit for a Triple S Tire Center at 301 El Camino Real.

—Rejected a proposed sign for Roos-Atkins at Tanforan, because it would be too large and it would open the way for all the other mall stores to have outside signs.

Appreciation Night Set

"Mayor James O'Connor Appreciation Night" is scheduled for the evening of April 8 at Millbrae's Airport Plaza Hotel, just three days before his successor will be elected.

Tickets may be obtained from Councilman Bernard Esser, or Planning Commissioner Joseph Galante, who are working on a committee arranging the dinner.

Body Is Tentatively Identified

The body of a murder victim found on San Bruno Mountain Sunday has been tentatively identified as that of Raymond L. Finehout, 38, San Francisco, director of development for the California Academy of Sciences in Golden Gate Park.

Sheriff's Inspector Rudy Siemssen said that Finehout's roommate, Gary Jones, and the director's secretary, Sue Weaver, definitely identified the slain man's clothing as that of Finehout, and tentatively identified the body.

Siemssen said that Finehout had been severely beaten about the head to such an extent that the scalp was literally torn off. The inspector surmised that Finehout was slain elsewhere and dragged to the location south of Guadalupe Canyon Parkway where his body was found by a hiker.

According to Siemssen, Finehout's 1969 model Mustang car is missing and apparently has been stolen. A California Highway patrolman found personal possessions belonging to Finehout scattered along Interstate 5 freeway near Fresno yesterday. Items included a suitcase, a deed to some property in Vermont and other personal papers. Jones told investigators that he had not seen Finehout since about 2 p.m. Saturday, shortly after the two had brunch at a San Francisco bar. The roommate reported Finehout missing early Monday and was summoned to the San Mateo County coroner's office to identify the body after police noted the missing man's description tallied with that of the slaying victim.

Siemssen said that he hopes to make a positive identification of Finehout through fingerprints on his Army record. Finehout had no criminal record and no fingerprints were on file with police or the Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation in Sacramento.

San Bruno Appeals to The SPCA

San Bruno may see some relief from its years and years of complaints about roving dogs. City Mgr. Gerald Minford met Feb. 29 with Ronald Babcock, operations superintendent of the Peninsula Humane Society who promised that he would work out a special enforcement program for San Bruno.

Babcock will appear at the next meeting of the City Council, Monday, March 13, to describe the program, which would not cost the City of San Bruno anything additional. Cost of Humane Society services, such as dog licenses, have sharply risen lately, however. The increase in revenue has been used to add two more Humane officers and additional equipment.

Also at the next meeting, councilmen can be expected to question Babcock about the possibility of adding control of cats to the ordinance. Although this has been proposed by County Sanitarian Rod Mayer because of complaints of some persons keeping too many cats in their homes, councilmen have not appeared to have taken the proposal very seriously.

member, agreed to establish a permanent branch of the Municipal Court in Daly City.

In the lawsuit Bocci asks the Superior Court to declare that the agreement was binding and enjoin the county from moving the Daly City court into the new wing of the courthouse in South San Francisco.

"It's news to me," said Henry F. Tarratt, county director of building construction and general services when asked about Bocci's claim. "I don't know anything about such an agreement."

Tarratt said the move into the new building was scheduled to start this weekend but has been delayed because the contractors have not finished. The building should be ready in another week, Tarratt said, but it is uncertain when the court will be transferred from Daly City.

Until three years ago, there was only a part-time court in Daly City. In 1968 the county leased space in the old City Hall, did some remodeling and established a full-time court there, with Judge Charles Becker presiding. The present supervisors voted last year, however, not to renew the lease on the basis that it is uneconomical to operate courts in both cities.

The Board of Supervisors has been bombarded with letters from residents of the Daly City area urging that the court remain. Three telegrams were received this week, from the Daly City Chamber of Commerce, Daly City Mission Merchants' Association and the Westlake Subdivision Improvement Association.

Bocci's lawsuit purports to be filed on behalf of the 75,000 residents of the Daly City area.

He said when court reorganization legislation went into effect in 1952 the supervisors appointed him and three other justices of the peace to recommend how the Municipal Courts should be established. The committee, he said, recommended that there be three judicial districts, with courts located in Redwood City, San Mateo, and at two locations in the north — South San Francisco and Daly City. The split court proposal in the north was made, he said, because fully staffed justice courts existed in both cities, and "in recognition of the need to accommodate both communities by reason of population and location."

Bocci said the Board of Supervisors, and particularly the chairman, the late Thomas Hickey, represented to officials of Daly City that the court there would be a permanent one.

Property Exchange Expected

An exchange of hillside property with Green Hills Golf and Country Club is to be approved Tuesday night by the Millbrae City Council.

The land swap has been under discussion for more than a year, since the city fell heir to the former "Millbrae Spur" property that years ago was destined to be the right of way for an extension of a parkway through the city from San Bruno. That parkway, Junipero Serra Boulevard, has grown into a freeway which loops up to the Skyline, and the unused land is lying vacant.

Many are the plans for developing a string of hiking trails, parks and other recreational areas along the hillside strip that extends from Mills High School to the county's Junipero Serra Park in San Bruno.

It could be used for anything from a cross-country running path, to a nature study area for Boy Scouts. Parts of it could become home sites, to finance development of other areas.

If Green Hills has its way, after long negotiations, it will obtain a piece of the property to expand its golf courses, and give the city a similar plot in exchange.

said that Belle Air should be kept as a place for older folks to live here. Sylvia Gregory, 141 Madison, pointed out that Belle Air was a flood plain and that if it became industrial, "you would be laying in many more problems for San Bruno."

Other protests centered around the projected increase of population for San Bruno to 50,000, and aspects of the plan which would apparently permit such a population increase. (Current population is 37,000.) Mrs. Ellie Larson of Hawthorne Way criticized the proposed high density for Cunningham Way, as well as other apartment areas.

Terri Rasmussen of Dover Court pointed to the danger of school overcrowding, and to the unreliability of current projections for the number of children from apartments.

S.S.F. Officer Captures Two

South San Francisco Police Officer Dan Cabrera single-handedly arrested two burglars suspects in Daly City Friday within minutes after the pair allegedly broke into a Pacifica home and fled with a television set, radio and tape recorder.

Pacifica police issued an all-points bulletin for the pair after a neighbor reported seeing the men leaving the home of Kevin Hamilton with the stolen items shortly after 4 p.m.

Officer Cabrera stopped the suspect car in the 7800 block of Mission Street in Daly City and arrested James Dudley, 29, of San Jose, and Jerald Giusto, 33,

Supervisors Won't Ask Devil's Slide Delay

Turning aside the demands of a small and angry delegation of Coastside residents and conservationists, the County Board of Supervisors refused Feb. 29 to ask for a delay in construction of the long-planned bypass of Cabrillo Highway around treacherous Devil's Slide.

"I'd hate to think of that road falling out, especially with people on it," said Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald.

Supervisor Jean Fassler said any delay would be at the risk of the lives of hundreds of Coastside residents who use the road daily.

"That bypass is the only solution to a very bad situation," Mrs. Fassler said. "It is an absolute must — at this time."

One of the leaders of the group, Mrs.

Nancy Maule of Montara, said a lawsuit is ready to be filed if that is necessary to stop the project as presently planned. She told reporters the suit will be filed in the name of the Sierra Club and 12 local residents to force the Division of Highways to file an environmental impact report as required by federal regulations. She said the division has not responded to their demands that the project be delayed until the report is filed.

The objections to the present plans were outlined for the board by one member of the group, Ed Butler, who submitted a petition bearing signatures asking the board to request the state to re-open hearings on the bypass.

"People know Devil's Slide is hazardous," Butler said, "and we agree that it could fall into the ocean at any minute. But the plan is unacceptable. Very little consideration has been given to environmental factors."

He said the bypass would "enhance nothing but growth."

"And growth," he told the board, "would make us just like Pacifica, or Orange County."

He said the new highway would cut through the communities of Montara and El Granada, and become a barrier between the beach and the mountains. And he charged that the bypass would require extensive cutting and filling, especially in scenic Green Valley.

Members of the delegation almost did not get to speak at all. Originally put on the agenda as merely a report from County Engineer S. H. Cantwell, the item was scheduled for 2:45 p.m. at the request of Mrs. Maule. By the time the item was called at 5:15, several members of the delegation had left, leaving only five.

After brief discussion among the supervisors, Fitzgerald moved that the request for a re-hearing be denied and a vote would have been taken at that point had not Butler and others shouted out that they had been waiting for two and one-half hours for a chance to speak. They said that many other Coastside residents would have been there if they had only known that the board planned to take action and not merely receive a report from Cantwell.

As to his report, Cantwell urged that the re-hearing not be requested, stating that such action could delay the project for two or three years and might even jeopardize it in its entirety.

Planned is a 6.4-mile bypass extending inland between the southern edge of Pacifica and Half Moon Bay Airport. The state plans to do the work in two stages, starting at the southern end.

The board finally denied the request to ask for the re-hearing and requested Cantwell to meet with the residents to explore the possibility of relocating the proposed Montara interchange to make it less disruptive to the community. The board also asked Cantwell to urge immediate funding of the project and suggest the possibility that work be started at the northern end.

Indigent Care Deficit Told

A county tax crisis in the 1972-73 fiscal year was foreseen yesterday as the result of a potential $3 million deficit this year in financing indigent medical care.

Supervisor Jean Fassler said she was frightened after receiving gloomy reports from County Manager M. D. Tarshes and Dr. George Pickett, county health and welfare director.

"I think there's going to be a tax revolt like we've never had before," Mrs. Fassler predicted.

At the urging of Tarshes and Dr. Pickett, the board took several actions to relieve the situation.

Among them was an order to speed up the phasing out of Canyon Hospital west of Redwood City in order to save the cost of its operation. The board asked that it be closed down by July 1 if possible. The hospital, originally built for tuberculosis patients, is now used mostly for care of alcoholic and geriatrics patients.

Another step taken by the board was a request for an early meeting with the county's state legislators in the hope of correcting what was described as errors in computing the county's dollar obligation under the state Medi-Cal program.

Dr. Pickett said the county faces two possibilities — "legislative relief or bankruptcy."

Tarshes told the board that, due to steps already taken and others to be taken, plus the use of fund reserves, the projected $3 million deficit this year can be covered.

"However," he warned, "the depletion of our fund balance can certainly have a detrimental effect on next year's tax rate."

Tarshes blamed the situation on a shift of Medi-Cal costs from the state to the counties, which Governor Reagan and the legislature, he noted, guaranteed would not occur.

"There is no question in my mind," Tarshes told the board, "that when state officials talk about an $80 million savings to the state as the result of Medi-Cal reform, they are really talking to a large extent about a shift of costs from the state to the counties."

Dr. Pickett gave an example: state officials estimated that, under the reform plan, 80 percent of the county's patients would be eligible for Medi-Cal.

After eligibility standards were established, however, it turned out that only 26 percent were eligible, meaning that the $1.3 million cost to the county to care for the ineligible patients would not be reimbursed by the state.

Tarshes said there still is no explanation why the county's obligation under the Medi-Cal reform legislation was increased from $4.8 million a year to $5.2 million and then, at the last moment, to $5.6 million. Legislation is now being proposed to reduce the figure.

Another $1.2 million of the deficit, Tarshes said, resulted from the state certifying only 135 patients at Canyon Hospital and Crystal Springs Rehabilitation Center for nursing home care at the rate of $14 a day, compared with the actual costs of $55 a day at Canyon and $15 to $65 a day at Crystal Springs Center.

Dr. Pickett said the beds at Canyon were not needed.

"On any given day," he said, "there are 500 vacant hospital beds in San Mateo County."

Tarshes is studying possible alternative uses for the facility when it is no longer used for medical care.

S.S.F. Meeting Postponed

Because South Francisco's Mayor William Borba and City Manager Gale Dreisbach will be in Washington, D.C., the regularly scheduled March 6 council meeting has been postponed to March 13.

Borba said he was going to the nation's capital because he is a member of an environmental committee. Dreisbach apparently is going to lobby for funds to get the Colma Creek Flood Control project moving.

A Corps of Engineer report some time back estimated that $90,000 was necessary for a complete study of the flooding problem.

It had been geared to get underway with a $60,000 federal appropriation for the fiscal year 1972-73. However, the actual amount appropriated was only $5,000, way short of what is required to start the study.

Both the South San Francisco and Pacifica city councils have adopted resolutions urging additional funding by congress for a survey of the Colma Creek flood control problem.

South San Francisco's council also adopted a resolution supporting the Corp project.

DC's Pacelli Is Honored

Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan February 28 presented outgoing Daly City councilman Frank Pacelli with a legislative commendation for his "many years of outstanding service."

The commendation was presented during a regular meeting of the council and came as a surprise to Pacelli, the councilman later said. Assembly Rules Committee commendation 102 lauded Pacelli for devoting much time "to his public office on behalf of the public weal" and to the detriment of his private life and business.

Pacifica Unions Set

Pacifica city employees, excluding administrators, police and firemen, now have joint representation by three unions — Laborers' Local 261, Teamsters' Local 216 and Operating Engineers' Local 3.

Seventy-eight of 92 possible ballots were cast last Thursday to decertify representation by the Pacifica City Employees Association and approve of the new coalition.

Of the 78 ballots cast, three were voided because they were incorrectly marked. Of the remaining 75 votes, 70 voted to decertify. And on the vote to have new representation 69 said yes and six voted not to be so represented.

The election came about because a group of apparently unhappy employees filed a petition for outside labor organization representation.

Press Confab on Cab Service Today

By GEORGE GOLDING
Although North County officials are happy with the new local-service taxi stands at San Francisco International Airport, they are unhappy with alleged "threats and intimidation" resulting from their recent efforts to improve that taxi service. As a result, the North County Council of Cities Thursday scheduled a March 8 press conference to publicly disclose "documented proof" that "franchised drivers" have previously refused to provide service to Peninsula residents. "We are not about to tolerate threats of a lawsuit every time we speak in the public behalf," said Chairman George Corey, asking for support of today's session. The action was proposed by San Bruno Councilman "Tony" Governale as head of the North County Council's subcommittee on airport taxi service. Governale said he had received a letter from the Yellow Cab company's attorney, demanding copies of the "documented proof" Governale had said he possessed during a previous North County Council meeting. "I look forward to early receipt of the publicized information," said the letter from attorney William L. Fardon for Yellow Cab. "If it is not received within ten days from the date of this letter (Feb. 22) I shall assume that you prefer to produce the documents only after legal proceedings direct you to do so." In answer, Governale asked support of his own letter to Fardon, which said: "I am much concerned with the letter you have written to me because I think it is intended in the nature of a threat." Governale's letter invited Yellow Cab's Fardon to attend an exhibit of the "documented proof" of "your own client's failure to perform at the Airport in a manner satisfactory to the North County Peninsula residents."

They called upon the City of San Francisco to provide increased security at the San Francisco County Jail at San Bruno, and asked the San Mateo County Sheriff's Office and Board of supervisors to cooperate in a plan to improve safety of citizens around the jail.

Noise Problem at Airport

Official findings were made by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors Thursday that a "noise problem" exists at San Francisco International Airport but that none exists at either of the county-owned airports in San Carlos or near Half Moon Bay. The designations are required under legislation that became effective March 4. Those designated as having noise problems are required to install noise monitoring devices and take certain corrective steps. Henry P. Tarratt, county director of building construction and general services, who reported on studies made by his department and various advisory bodies, said the county airports were not so designated because there are no residences within the "noise impact boundary"—a delineated area around the airports. "We do, however, recognize that some citizens who live in the vicinity of the county airports outside the noise impact boundary and who may not be fully conversant with the details of the state standards in regard to noise impact boundaries, view the situation differently, and with possible justification, from their point of view," Tarratt said. He said steps have been and will continue to be taken to minimize noise at the county facilities. The board endorsed a recommendation by the County Aviation Committee that detailed studies be made in that regard. The studies will cost about $21,000 for each airport, with the federal government to pay two-thirds, Tarratt said.

Pact Length Questioned

All Pacifica council members apparently agree to the need for a solid waste transfer station in the city.

Mayor Grace McCarthy, however, seems to be the only one questioning the length (20 years) of a requested contract desired by the Coastside Scavengers to build and maintain the facility.

Mayor McCarthy expressed her concern at a study meeting of city officials with scavenger representatives Wednesday night. Formal approval for a contract extension will be requested at the March 27 council meeting.

She said she is not only concerned with the long contract proposal, but also has serious doubts as to the suitability of the location. The scavengers will need a zoning change to build on the site near Rockaway they have proposed.

"I feel that the extension of the contract (which is due to expire in 1975) is too long. I'm concerned also about not going to bid (for the work)," said Mrs. McCarthy.

She added that another matter that bothered her was whether there should not be an effort to adapt more to conservation of resources than to just keep making items and throwing them away.

Concerned Citizens Shake Up Civic Scene With S.S.F. Suit

"The people of this state do not yield their sovereignty to the agencies which serve them. The people, in delegating authority, do not give their public servants the right to decide what is good for the people, to know and what is not good for them to know. The people insist on remaining informed so they may retain control over the instruments they have created."

—The Brown Act

By BOB PETERSON

Most Peninsulans like to think they are citizens for responsible government. But too many only show up at a council meeting, or speak out about our government, when a particular item concerns them.

By contrast, in South San Francisco a group that stresses its concern for everything that happens in city government, and claims citywide representation, finds its efforts stymied by claims of "politics."

That group is called Citizens for Responsible Government and goes by the initials CRG. It was established in 1970 ("because of dissatisfaction") for the express purpose of increasing citizen participation in local government. Membership is open to all registered voters.

"That cloud of political motivation is always hanging," said CRG President Robert Albright. "This charge is constantly brought up by the members of the city council. We have always prefaced our remarks to avoid any political connotation."

Albright is the plaintiff in the pending taxpayers' suit against South San Francisco councilmen. The suit asks them to cease accepting flat expense monies without accounting for it, and to pay back those allegedly illegally paid amounts council has received in the past. Efforts to change the flat expense account practice was begun by CRG last November.

"The time-worn word 'political' has become one of the most used and abused words in city council proceedings," said Albright. "Webster's dictionary clearly defines it as being concerned with government. Three certainly can be no fault with placing the action of any individual or organization within that interpretation."

"Albright said it is the intent of his organization to continue to make citizens aware and knowledgeable of the issues which face South San Francisco through open forum and public debates.

"We hope to take a stand on many issues so that our city council will know how we, the citizens, feel," said Albright. "CRG is a citywide group of concerned citizens who insist on a local government which is responsive to the needs of the people."

The CRG president points to a resolution by his organization that says CRG will not endorse any individual candidate for political office.

"We lose it if we get down to individualism," said Albright. "It's absurd to say we are backing anyone because there are four people with membership in CRG running for three seats on the city council." Two other members are seeking other elective offices. "It shows they are interested and responsive," said Albright.

Albright, incidentally, is serving a second term as president because the individual slated to be president this year bowed out due to the fact he was going to be active in one candidate's campaign.

CRG, according to Albright, is a lobby for better and more effective government. "It's a little people's Common Cause," said Albright. "The people in it are sincere. They believe in it, and represent a cross section of this town."

He admits to an actual membership of "about 100" and a comment to the effect that membership figures are irrelevant because the efforts of that 100 are being felt throughout the city.

"We have people at our meetings who are not members of CRG. Membership is open to any, and underline that any, registered voters in South San Francisco," said Albright.

"Members pay $5 per couple annually for dues. This money goes for mailings. There are no salaries and no expense accounts," he said.

The board of directors of CRG meets regularly on the second Thursday of the month in the Orange Avenue Library.

Some public forum meetings, such as that held at the El Camino High School Little Theater regarding the pros and cons of annexing San Bruno Mountain to the city, are held in places with larger seating capacity. CRG took no stand on the annexation.

Albright is proud of the accomplishments of CRG in its three years of existence.

The group was instrumental in reviving a beautification committee that had lain dormant for years, and was more-or-less handled by one councilman.

"They now hold regular meetings and have minutes," said Albright. "This way people can easily know how their beautification funds are being spent."

Skyline Conquistadors Set A 'Night of Pageantry'

A "Night of Pageantry" program featuring drum and bugle corps music and precision drill by color guard units is scheduled for Skyline College, March 11.

A number of leading corps from throughout Northern California are scheduled to perform. The show is the first of its kind ever held in this area, and is the premier performance by the units with their new music for 1972.

The color guard show is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the college gymnasium. The drum and bugle corps "standstill" show will be held at 8:30 p.m. in the college theater.

The event is sponsored by The Conquistadors, the Northern Peninsula corps which is rapidly becoming one of the state's leading drum and bugle units.

The Conquistadors are now in their second year.

Terra Nova Topics

Terra Nova's Music Department is making plans to "go on the road" with their successful musical production of "Jesus Christ, Superstar." The cast and band is already scheduled to perform at St. John's Cathedral at Healdsburg on March 24, and John Bentley, TN music teacher, has received requests for the group to perform in Santa Cruz, San Jose, Santa Rosa and Napa.

The engagements will almost all take place at churches. "They have to have some special stages built around the altars for us, and we'll have to do the show in the round," commented one cast member, and the group plans to rent two buses for their tour, which will take place during Easter vacation. Sleeping accommodations for the cast members are loose.

"we'll be sleeping on gym floors and in private homes". The tour will be a complicated undertaking, and the student performers will be under a heavy schedule.

The final performance of "Jesus Christ, Superstar" is scheduled to take place on Good Friday at St. Peter's Church in Linda Mar. Tickets for this last local performance are already in danger of being sold out.

Many good things have come about from TN's production of superstar. It has definitely increased the popularity and support of this Music Department and given an ago-boost to a group who has long deserved a little positive feed-back. It has been a box office smash, and has even given the cast an opportunity to cut an album. Mike Valerio, TN Junior who played the celebrated part of King Herod, has even been rumored to be the new elementary school idol of Cabrillo school as a result of his performance. Oh, well — that's show biz.

Westmoor High Carnival Set This Weekend

Westmoor High School annual carnival will be held March 10, 11 and 12 this year.

Mrs. George Thompson, vice president and ways and means chairman, is calling for volunteers to help staff the booth sponsored by Westmoor P-TA. The carnival is set up on the school parking lot and is an important means for student government and school clubs to earn money for their treasures.

The P-TA uses the proceeds from their booth for the P-TA scholarship fund. Last year the unit awarded $250 in scholarships to graduating students.

Anyone interested in helping staff the booth during this weekend is urged to contact Mrs. Thompson.

B'nai Brith Women Slate 'Greek Nite'

Reservations are now being accepted for the "Greek Nite" which will be presented by Skyline B'nai Brith Women April 8, at 7:30 p.m.

The dinner-dance will be held at the Minerva Cafe, 136 Eddy street, San Francisco, and proceeds will benefit the many philanthropies of B'nai Brith.

For further information, call Mrs. Norman Tauber, 756-9375 or Mrs. Vern Berkowitz, 993-6354.

Mrs. Hugh Parsons Wins Engvall P-TA Honor

A recent Founder's Day Program at Engvall Intermediate School, guests were seated at tables gaily decorated with hearts and flowers.

The decorations were furnished by Mrs. Ray Devincenzi and her committee. Guests included members of the San Bruno Park School Board, past P-TA presidents of Engvall, former BSA recipients, and Fire Marshall Harper Petersen.

After Mrs. Pat Kelly's Boy Scout Troop led the flag ceremony, Engvall P-TA president Mrs. Joseph Busch, conducted a brief business meeting asking for members of the nominating committee to be named. The committee will be selecting a new slate of officers for the 1972-73 ter.

Mrs. Busch turned the meeting over to Founder's Day chairmen Mrs. William Bailey and Mrs. Kenneth Hester and their committee. Each of the committee members read a portion of the things done by the person to be named recipient of the HSA leading up to the final moment of suspense. Mrs. Hugh Parsons was named this year's recipient of the Honorary Service Award. Mrs. Parsons has been active with Engvall and Sandburg P-TA as well as with her church.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Thompson and Miss Bill, home economic teachers, for the fashion show put on by the 6th and 8th grade home economics sewing classes.

Coffee and cake, decorated by Mrs. Harold Raphael, were served after the meeting.

Recycling Feature At 'Happening'

Recycling of cans, bottles, newspapers and cardboard will be a feature of the Girl Scout Happening scheduled for this March 11 at the Serramonte Shopping Center.

The parking lot at Serramonte High will be the site where Girl Scouts, their dads and brothers, will collect and sort the materials.

All clean material will be accepted and volunteers will sort and smash cans, then take neck rings off bottles. Cans will go into the categories of aluminum, tin, and mixed metal; bottles will be sorted by color, i.e., clear, brown and green.

The public need only be sure the cans and bottles are clean as there are no facilities for washing in the parking lot. Magazines cannot be collected as their slick pages are unacceptable for recycling. (Related Story, Page 10.)

Library Friends Launch Campaign

March 15 will mark the beginning of the month-long annual membership campaign by the Friends of the Daly City Library.

Mrs. Jack Jones, membership chairman, and Mrs. William Schumacher, co-chairman, have plans well under way to remind current members of renewals and to inform prospective members of the wide scope of activities in which the local Friends participate and to which memberships are supportive.

The Daly City group sponsors six day-time book reviews each year, plus two evening community activities. Proceeds from its annual used book fair (May 13 this year) and smaller fall sale provide gifts for the library which could not be secured through the library's normal budget. The group also encourages gifts in honor of and in memorial, solicits gifts for projects from organizations and foundations, and has established a building fund for future expansion of library facilities.

Field workers are supplied from the ranks of The Friends for the shut-in program and for the low-cost area mobile "Book Power" bus.

In the past, collections have been secured of 8 mm films, circulating phonograph records, framed pictures of fine art, and large print books.

Among other innovations have been satellite libraries (including the honor system library at Our Lady of Guadalupe Health Center), and children's story hour during summer in libraries and in the field as part of the summer recreation program.

Memberships are of four types: Individual, family, organization, and patron. Dues are nominal. Application blanks may be obtained at your branch library, or call Membership Chairman Mrs. Jack Jones, 755-3703.

Good morning, good cooks.

I'll bet the good cooks who competed and won in the Pillsbury Bake Off in Houston last week are still clicking their heels in joy.

There were 100 contestants from 34 states. All finalists received $100.00 in cash, a GE Self-Cleaning Oven range and the expense paid trip to Houston.

There were two $25,000 prize winners, Mrs. Isabelle Collins from Elk River, Minn., and Mrs. Rose DeDominicis of Verona, Penn. A Los Angeles school teacher Mrs. Lynne Goldklang won $5000.00 for her recipe for "Cheesy Biscuit Rings," twisted O-shaped cheese snacks made from Refrigerated Biscuits. Another $5000.00 winner was Mrs. Bobby Wilson of Leesburg, Ga., who created a rich bar cookie which blended three layers of goodies. A sweet cream cheese filling banked on a milk chocolate base and topped with swirls of marshmallow-fudge frosting.

An interesting fact about the two grand prize winners was that the ingredients in their recipes cost less than $1.50. Mrs. Collins made a batch of streamlined cookies combining fresh Crescent roll dough, sweetened condensed milk and Coconut Almond Frosting Mix to make very easy, chewy coconut bar cookies. "Quick 'n Easy Crescent Bars," Mrs. DeDominicis made a "Streusel Spice Cake" a pound cake starting with Yellow Cake Mix, subtly flavored with chocolate, and a spiced streusel mixture for both filling and topping.

All these winning recipes sound delicious and I'll be sharing them with you in future columns. Today I'd like to share the recipe that won the $1000.00 prize in the best consumer-value category. It was selected by a computer analysis of nutritional content with consideration for ingredient costs.

I made this dish for dinner and that computer must also have taste buds, for with all its other qualities it is delicious.

A young man from Garwood, New Jersey created this prize winner. Dennis Batich is 16 years old, a sophomore in high school and now has a thousand dollars to aid him in his ambition to start a mail order business.

His recipe combines hot dogs and beans nestled under cheese-layered Refrigerated Biscuits.

FRANK 'N BEANS BISCUIT CASSEROLE

- 1 Tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup chopped onion or 2 Tablespoons instant minced onion
- Three 16-ounce cans chopped green pepper
- one pound weiners, sliced
- 16-ounce can pork and beans
- one-third cup chili sauce
- one-third cup catsup

- 1 to 2 tablespoons firmly packed brown sugar, if desired
- 1 can (8-oz.) refrigerated buttermilk or country style biscuits
- 3/4 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
- 1/2 cup crushed corn chips

- 3 Tablespoons grated Romano or Parmesan cheese
- 1 Tablespoon butter or margarine
- OVEN 375-degrees, 5 to 6 SERVINGS

Preheat oven to 375-degrees. In large fry pan, saute the half cup chopped onions and three-fourth cup chopped green pepper in the tablespoon butter until tender. Stir in the one pound sliced weiners, can of pork and beans, one-third cup each chili sauce and catsup. For a sweeter flavor, add the one tablespoon brown sugar. Simmer 2 minutes. Spoon hot mixture into ungreased 12x8-inch or 9-inch square pan.

Separate the biscuit dough into 10 biscuits; pull apart each into 2 layers. Arrange 10 biscuit pieces over hot mixture; sprinkle with three-fourths cup shredded cheese. Arrange remaining biscuits on top. Combine the half cup corn chips with the three tablespoons Parmesan cheese; sprinkle over biscuits. Dot with 1 tablespoon butter. Bake 375-degrees for 20 to 25 minutes until biscuits are golden brown. Refrigerate leftovers.

Contributors to this cook book include many guild mothers as well as famous chefs, public figures and celebrities.

Mrs. Ferguson reiterates that it is possible to purchase your copy of this delightful kitchen companion by sending a check for $3.50 to Riordan Cook Book, 175 Phelan Avenue, San Francisco 94112. All proceeds from the sale of the books are used for the special project funds for Riordan High School.

NEWS HAS BEEN received that Sam Krips, manager of the Northern California Joint Board, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, AFL-CIO, has been invited to serve on the Attorney General's Advisory Volunteer Committee by California Attorney General Younger.

The volunteers will make periodic reports to the attorney general in an effort to provide support to crime prevention and control activities, environmental and consumer protection plans and legislative programs.

Taiwan Grinds Baloney Again?

Nationalist Chinese officials say Chiang Kai-shek's government cannot forgive President Nixon for negotiating with Communist China. They accuse the President (without naming him) of playing into the hands of the enemy.

It is not surprising to find the baloney mills of deepest Formosa grinding again. For years, the propaganda machines of Chiang Kai-shek have known victory only in the half of Congress and at the bar of American public opinion.

Today, 23 years after retreat to the island kingdom, the government of Chiang Kai-shek still talks of recovering the mainland. This is all well and fine, and if Chiang and his supporters want to dream impossible dreams we should leave them in comfort. But Chiang expects more than peaceful and harmless dreams. He wants to prevent this nation from playing a suitable leadership role in the modern world.

IT MIGHT BE more becoming for Chiang to thank us for past favors — billions of them, and to reflect on his role during the crucial years.

Dean Acheson in his book "Present at the Creation" (Norton 1969), summarizes Chiang simply: "Chiang was given a great chance in China and threw it away."

Harry Truman in his "Memoirs" (Doubleday 1956) said "Chiang Kai-shek would not heed the advice of one of the greatest military strategists in history (General Marshall) and lost to the Communists."

General Wedemeyer (recognized as a champion of Chiang) in his famed Report to the President (1947) reported "oppressive police measures, corrupt practices and maladministration of National Government officials." Again "... we were withholding unqualified support from a government within which corruption and incompetence were so prevalent that it was losing support of its own people."

Barbara Tuchman, in her excellent book "Stillwell and the American Experience in China" (The Macmillan Company, 1970), records the frustrated responses of Vinegar Joe Stillwell — "Nothing can be done in China until we get rid of Chiang Kai-shek." "He's a vacillating, tricky, undependable old scoundrel who never keeps his word." Stillwell wrote of the United States "forced into partnership with a gang of fascists under a one party government similar in many respects to our German enemy."

Whitney Griswold, later President of Yale, in 1938 called Chiang's government a fascist dictatorship though a slovenly and ineffective one.

BESIDES THESE shortcomings, the pages of history record Chiang as having other minor faults and flaws. That this man continues to presume to influence American public opinion and to immobilize us in playing our role in the dangerous world of the 70's is beyond belief.

Chiang and Nationalist China are allies. We should continue to recognize our treaties and commitments to them. But Chiang had his chance, and should not now get in the way of American action in the real world of the 70's.

In other words, the China lobby, the baloney machines and the presumption of "Pea-nut" (Stillwell's nickname for Chiang) to control the policy of the United States should all be turned off — forever.

Barbara Bladen Musical Group Making Mark

Tall, flaxen haired Leslie Albertsen of San Carlos is unmistakably Swedish. And at age 18 she has put together a musical group that is making its mark on the peninsula.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Albertsen, the Carlmont High School alumna who is in her second year at College of San Mateo is the lead singer of "Leslie And The Choje Brothers." They will play March 15 in Foster City at a benefit for ballet scholarships at the home of sponsors, Miriam and Bob Toren.

Her naturally deep voice received formal training with opera teacher Austin Mosher in Menlo Park. She may have inherited some of her talent from a mother who sang professionally under the name of Helen Glover with the San Francisco Opera Company, the Lamplighters and at Stern Grove and a father who plays cocktail piano and sings at the Iron Horse restaurant on Maiden Lane in San Francisco.

Howard Albertsen decided to manage his daughter's singing career when he owned the Pagliacci show-case on El Camino in Redwood City. He'd been half of a comedy act (Byron and Howard) at the Pulee Onion for two years before his partner went to Hollywood to write songs. In Las Vegas, he performed with Rosemary Clooney and then came back to San Francisco as pianist at the Manx Hotel on Powell Street.

The group includes Greg Jones, on bass, Richard Healy on guitar and James Chanteloup on drums. At one point they called themselves "Leslie's Liberation" and also "Leslie And The Chanteloup Brothers" but finally settled on the shorter name they have now.

Their style is somewhere between the commercial sound of The Carpenters and old standards. But they can also do rock, depending on what the patrons request.

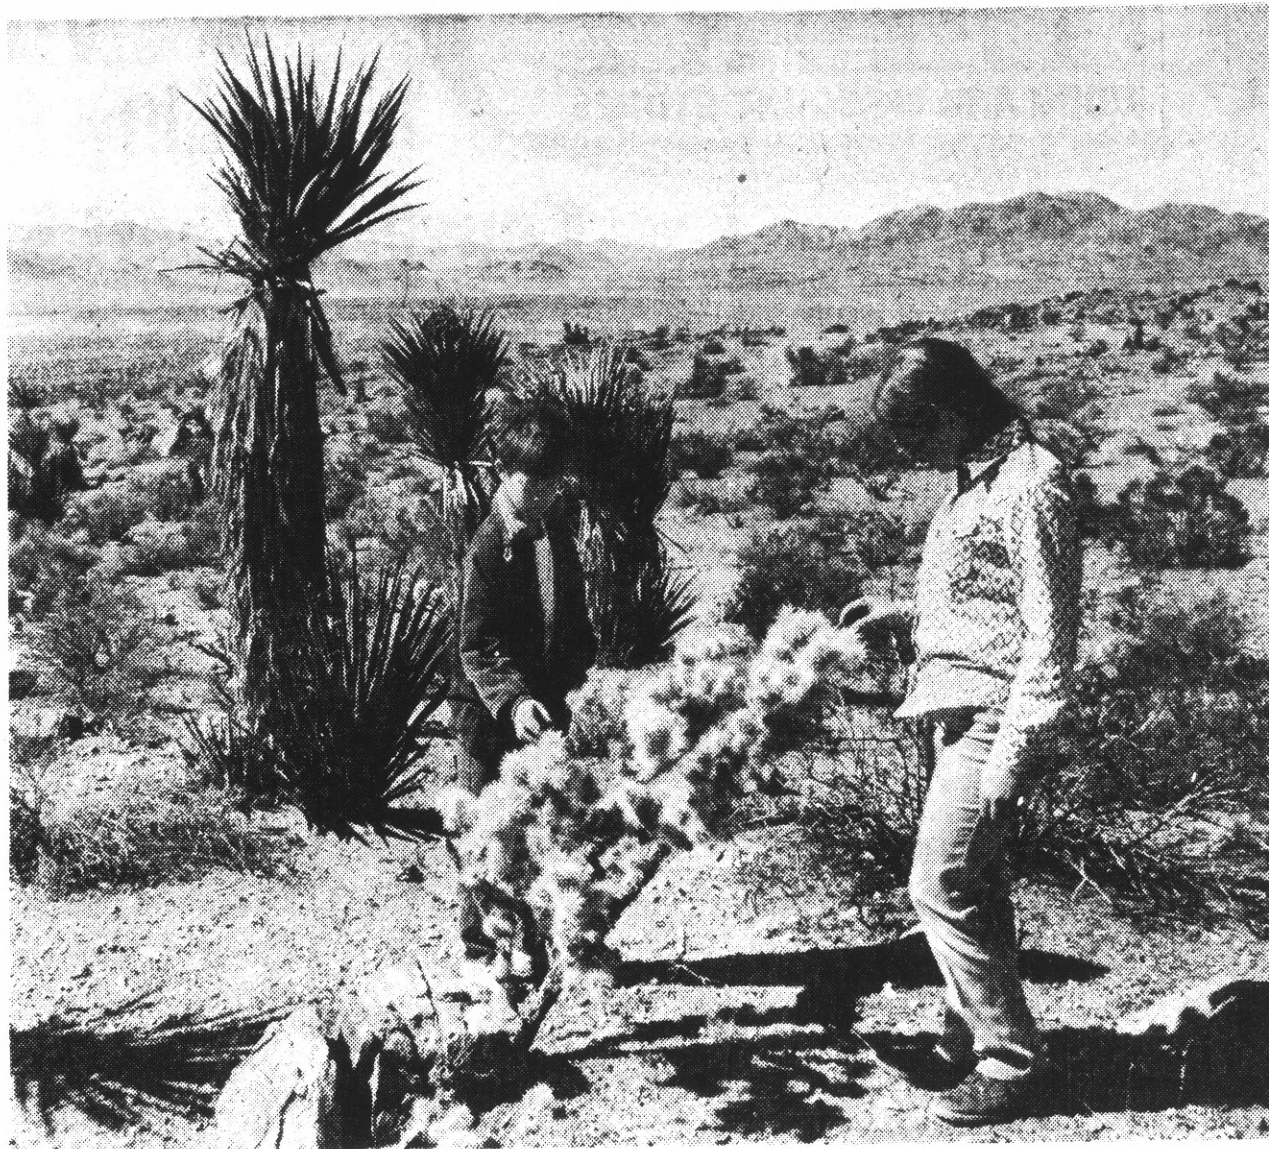

Leslie's father grooms the quartet, writes out the expensive arrangement charts, purchases look-alike outfits for the fellows and does the booking.

Having studied dancing at Rose Ann's studio in Menlo Park and ballet at Annabel's studio in San Carlos for 9 years, she turned toward music last summer when she and Chanteloup were teamed as "Mundo's People." He introduced her to two musicians friends and the horizons broadened.

Besides working as a secretary at Pedregal House, a San Mateo halfway house for youngsters 14 to 20 with drug and family problems, she and the group are completing a three month weekend stint at the Mainliner private club.

Judging a Citizen's Motives

The February 22 action of three South San Francisco Councilmen to order an investigation (by whatever pseudonym) in a word is wrong.

Using the sanctity of a city council chair to sit in judgment of a citizen's motives is a blatant misuse of that elective position.

Atty. David Friedenberg was acting as a legal representative of a client when his integrity was challenged. Three councilmen — Frank Bertucelli, Patrick Ahern and William Borba — instructed City Attny John Noonan and City Mgr. Gale Dreisbach to "assess the political activities" of Friedenberg.

Noonan approved of the motion by Ahern. There was a roll call vote and Councilmen Frank Mammimi and Warren Steinkamp strenuously objected.

FRIEDENBERG had just told the majority councilmen that they must appear in court March 2 to "show cause" why they should not stop accepting an automatic $40 a month "car availability" expense allowance.

The minority councilmen are not required to "show cause" because they have refused to accept blanket expenses without submitting a voucher.

That March 2 date, incidentally, has since been changed to March 8 at the request of Noonan and the approval of Friedenberg.

Just because councilmen are being informed that they are to appear in court to answer a taxpayer's suit is hardly grounds for having a man's (anyone's) political activities "assessed."

Councilmen are elected to serve to the satisfaction of every resident — as impossible as that may be.

And it's obvious from the taxpayers' suit that someone is exercising his constitutional right to petition his government, through legal channels, for a redress of grievances.

This suit came about only after repeated requests for the council to cease the practice of accepting blanket expense payments, without justifying that payment of public funds.

THE MATTER of councilmen's expenses was first broached last November by a council watchdog organization claiming city-wide representation.

This group, Citizens for Responsible Government, led by their president Robert Albright, asked that an ordinance be adopted that would require councilmen to itemize all expenses. At that time councilmen were getting a flat $50 a month and the mayor $75.

Instead of abiding by the request of constituents, the council on a 3-2 split (ayes: Bertucelli, Ahern and Borba; nays: Mammimi and Steinkamp) and at the urging of Noonan, voted the automatic $40 "car availability" allowance and called for itemization of all other expenses.

This action prompted the taxpayers' suit filed by Friedenberg, on behalf of Albright and "all other taxpayers of South San Francisco."

THE SUIT not only demands that the practice of blanket payments be stopped, but alleges that these payments being illegal should be paid back to city coffers.

Mammimi and Steinkamp have already said they would abide by the court ruling, and if the practice is deemed illegal will pay back monies they have received over the past four years.

This seems the most sensible: leave the expenses question to the courts, and the matter of a man's political activities alone. They can't be changed anyhow.

Fears Being Expressed

SOME FEARS BEING expressed about that proposed demographic study to be conducted by the Jeff Elementary School District. At least one householder feels the information, which includes names, addresses, number of children and not much else, will be indexed, filed and used against citizens.

AT A MEETING of the JESD it was most vociferously pointed out by a couple of members of the audience that the district would save tax monies by using volunteers from the community to conduct the study. Following a meeting with the P-TA Council last week, Supt. Frank Greenwood came away with the feeling that the army of volunteers that had been envisioned might not be so easily mustered. Fact is, according to Greenwood, it will probably be hard enough to get enough people to conduct the study, even if they are paid hard cash. The study will be used to evaluate present racial balance, future funding of certain programs, projected school rooms necessary to house students, and similar matters — we're told.

WE'VE BEEN ASSURED that government will not use the demographic findings against us. After all, we were promised, where do you think we live? In Red China (oops, I mean the Peoples' Republic of China)? Just because the U.S. Army collects certain pertinent information on 20 million of its citizens, and the U.S. Bureau of Census goofs and released personal data to private firms, doesn't mean that the school district will pass on what they learn about us to the state. But on the other hand... why do they want to know how many bedrooms I have in my house, or my wife's age, and if we rent or buy, or...?

DR. RONALD LAVIGNA who recently moved into new offices at 6397 Mission St. in Daly City said he has mounted a campaign to make people more foot conscious, being as how he's a podiatrist. How, we cleverly asked? "By asking the government to change Tuesday to Toesday," good old Ronald replied. And we thought so too!

FLASHY FLASH — The now-famous "Troika Decision" of two weeks ago is still reverberating through South San Francisco. Latest tremor resulting from the main quake that shook that city when councilmen Bill Borba, Patrick Ahern and Frank Bertucelli directed their city attorney, John Noonan, to "check out" attorney Dave Friedenberg, has come from an area some five miles from the original epicenter — namely Friedenberg's office in Daly City. He is about to file a counter, counter-action against the three members of the South City council.

FRIEDENBERG CLAIMS his civil rights and those of his clients are being violated by the directive handed down from the Heavenly Body to the city attorney. And he thinks the use of Noonan's time is an improper expenditure of taxpayers' money. What sort of response this will generate from the South City majority is anybody's guess. We wonder why such meetings as those of late aren't among the top ten on the local Telly rating list. They are, after all, great mystery shows.

SPEAKING OF WITCH-HUNTS (We were, you weren't) — Attorney Friedenberg's counterpart in a legal action here last week was attorney Bela Lugosi. Get it? "Witch-hunt" and famous Hollywood horror film actor Bela Lugosi? The attorney is the late actor's son. Why do I have to explain everything I write.

RUMOR HAS IT that North San Mateo County Sanitation District officials are "reading" someone to step into Bob Bernicchi's post when he ascends to greater challenges. And this might not be too far off. There is no doubt Bernicchi is a superior force in his field and is expected to set up his own shop in the not too distant future. The board recently changed his title from district manager to consultant. With the change went a rather noticeable CUT in pay.

THE HILLSIDE HOMEOWNERS Improvement Club holds its annual Installation Dinner Dance at the Italian-American Social Club in San Francisco. Not because the food there is so great; not because the parking is convenient; not because San Francisco needs the money. It's the same old reason MOST such functions are held outside Daly City — No facilities inside the city that can comfortably hold 200 people.

THAT MOBILE HOME PARK off Hoffman in Daly City, three years in the coming, is now open. Extensive grading landscaping at construction went into the project. Used to be a smelly horse stable and shacks for farm workers on the site.

WHEN IS SOMETHING going to be done about that stupid signal system on the corner of Alameda, South Mayfair and Lake Merced Boulevard? Should the city wait until there are a few more fender benders? Tune in again at a later date and find out.

Candidates' Night Sponsored by P-TAs

Vista Mar P-TA will host a Candidates' Night March 13 at 7:45 p.m. in the Vista Mar Multi-Use Room, 725 Southgate Ave., Daly City.

The event is being co-sponsored by the Garden Village, M.P. Brown, Olympia-Rivera and Ben Franklin P-TA's.

The program will include a panel of the candidates for the Jefferson Elementary School Board stating their qualifications and platform, giving their position on current issues and answering questions from the audience.

Guest moderator will be a member of the San Mateo County League of Women Voters.

A booklet, "Choosing A School Board Member," published by the American Association of University Women, will be available at our cost of 10 cents each.

The meeting is open to the public, and everyone is welcome and encouraged to bring a fellow voter.

Our Readers Write--

Candidates Less Likely to . . .

Editor, The Post:

Whenever the calendar gets around to telling us that it is well nigh time for another election we will more than likely find that the assorted editorialists and elected officials and public spirited groups of citizens will be hollering out the antediluvian, hackneyed, and idiotic phrases of, "... get out and vote," and, "it matters not how you vote, just so long as you vote"...

And once again, more likely than not, the informed electorate will be faced with a matters not choice between a bevy of candidates who offer little to choose from so that the final face off leaves the electors with little choice but to choose the candidate least likely to make matters worse than they were before this whole election thing started with a mass media "get out and vote" ballyhoo!

Since those good old golden rule school days, most of us have been impressed with the matter of fact assurance that any American citizen can one day become President of the United States, ... or Chairman of a County Central Committee. But, of course, most of us also know by now that such things just aren't too easy to come by since some yahoo always seems to get there first in order to make the rules for others to fall over.

In California the sitting Members of the Assembly make the rules for running for Assembly seats and included in the rules that the Assembly has set forth for a citizen wishing to be properly elected to such a seat, there is a $192, "toll charge" and a requirement that anyone seeking the partisan nomination must obtain at least forty "good" signatures of such citizens as may be registered as affiliated with the same political party.

It may not seem to be such a terrible task to get 40 citizens to vouch for a candidate but with a Peace and Freedom candidate it can be a little precarious.

Pack 137 Celebrates Week With Banquet 'Style Show'

Cub Pack 137 celebrated Boy Scout Week by having their annual Blue and Gold Banquet at San Andreas School.

The tables were gaily decorated with the blue and gold theme as the Cubs and their families gathered. Webster Den 2 presented the flag ceremony.

The hilarious entertainment of the evening was a "fashion show" presented by six fathers.

Gil Hulsmann, cubmaster, welcomed five boys into the pack and presented them with their Bobcat pin: Matthew Harrington, David Bonetti, John McGuinness, David Monnot, Brian McGlothlen.

Other awards presented went to Donald Griffin, Barry Murphy, Pat Sangimino, Dean Bogios, Darrell Wiley, David Laskey, Willy Berger, Lenny Martinez, Monte Gonsalves.

Mr. Berger, assistant cubmaster, presented the Webelos awards to Gary Brown, Robert Gomez, Jimmy Toland and Darryl Johnson.

Ronny Arjo received the Arrow of Light and the traditional Picture Frame of his achievements earned in the pack and Robert Petschul also received the Arrow of Light.

Lloyd Griffin, neighborhood commissioner, presented to the cubmaster a letter of thanks from the Goodwill Industries for the pack's participation in the "Goodwill-Good turn" service project and a unit ribbon was presented for the conservation service.

Griffin and Mr. Thompson presented the Den Chief cord and book to the following Boy Scouts for their completion of the Den Chief training session.

Certificates of Recognition were presented to Janet Lynch, Dea Panages, Joan Howard, Margaret Johnson, Carol Hulsmann and Cliff Taylor. Training Certificates went to Barbara Bala, Carol Hulsmann and Yukio Manabe.

Any boy age 8-10 years old interested in Cub Scouting may contact the recruiter, Mr. Medina at 355-1975.

Pack 360 Show Variety

Cub Scout Pack 360 of Daly City met at Vista Mar School Friday for a series of variety acts and the presentation of awards for February and a new charter year. A large crowd of relatives, friends and scouters enjoyed the festivities.

Wolf badges were awarded to Glen Michelletti, Chris Gillen, Michael Browne, Mike Isola, Chris Wilsey, Jim Carmeron, David Barrich, Mark Taddel and Scott Brewer. The last six of these also received the Golden Arrow award. Silver Arrows were awarded to Mark Muro, Chris Wilsey, David Barrich and Scott Brewer, Chris and Scott receiving two each. Creighton Seitz was given his Bobcat insignia.

Newly elected Denners and their assistants received their insignia as follows: Den 1, Charlie Martin and Tony Rivas; Den 2, Kurt Kraal and Gonzalo Borja; Den 3, Scott Brewer and Rob Osborne, and Den 4, Creighton Seitz and Michael Lyons.

Pack 360 is led by Cubmaster Keith Martin and is sponsored by St. Martin's Episcopal Church of Daly City.

Dramatic 'Flair' Shown

Local residents recently displayed dramatic flair when six of the seven roles in Skyline College's upcoming "Lion in Winter" went to Daly City residents.

Parts went to Patricia Urbanus, Thomas Martinez, Charles Robinson, Maurice Vercore, Dave Priest and Tom Hansen, all of Daly City. Dubbed "virile" and "urgent" theatre by Broadway critic Walter Kerr, "Lion in Winter" is scheduled to open March 9 and play Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights through March 18.

The play is being staged in the intimate Studio Theatre with the curtain time set at 8 p.m. Tickets for adults are $1.50 and may be reserved by calling 355-7000, extension 393 to 4 p.m. on weekdays.

John Muir P-TA Sees Skit; Honors Ladies

John Muir School P-TA of San Bruno celebrated Founder's Day recently in the multi-purpose room at the school.

After Brownie Troop 913 presented the flag, P-TA president Mrs. Robert Hermann conducted a short business meeting. Mrs. Hermann then introduced special guests: Supt. William Jennings, assistant Supt. F. H. Jackson, superintendent of instruction, Robert L. Rottman, acting principal John Muir School Edwin Valier and San Bruno Police Officer Frank Cook.

Other guests included some past recipients of the Honorary Service Award: Mrs. Robert Nylund, Mrs. Frank Norman, Mrs. Louis Huebsch and Mrs. Richard Thomas.

Mrs. Leslye Young's fifth grade class performed a skit entitled "Young Abe's Destiny" and sang two songs in keeping with the theme of the program, "A Patriotic Salute to Spring."

Founders' Day chairman, Mrs. William Knill, presented two Honorary Service Awards this year, one to Mrs. Richard Sarro and the other to Mrs. James Martin for outstanding service to John Muir School and their community. A bouquet of red roses was also presented to each of the ladies.

To close the program for the afternoon, Mrs. William Knill presented a flower arranging demonstration and assembled four different vases using a va-

Phil Lehr's Steakery Elegant Wellington Room

Looks like Phil Lehr's Steakery, in downtown San Francisco, is entertainment headquarters for the big IBM Convention. Phil has been receiving long distance phone reservations all week for cocktail and dinner parties in the elegant Wellington Room. Some of the finest banquet facilities anywhere in the Bay Area are to be found at A. Sabella's at Fisherman's Wharf, where the entire second floor is devoted to just that. It's suggested by Owner Lucien Sabella, who personally handles most of the large banquet affairs, that you call well in advance to make reservations for your birthdays and other special occasions. The Tahoe Sands Motor Hotel, a summer-winter resort located at South Lake Tahoe, played host to the U.S. Men's Cup Team during the World Ski Meet, and it's been a bustling resort site, as you can well imagine. If you're headed for a little ski action in the High Sierra (nearby Heavenly Valley is located only a half-block from the direct route to the lift), make Tahoe Sands your residing destination. The lodging is comfortable, with picture windows to bring the outdoors inside; there's a cozy Fireside lounge, and the plush Coach Room features cuisine specialties on the weekends (after the first of June the dining room will be open seven days a week). The Coffee Shop serves breakfast and lunch.

CURRENT ATTRACTION — Bob's Classic, featuring songstress Birdie Lee, entertain in the Deacon Brodie Tavern at Royal Coach Motor Hotel, San Mateo. Besides the above band being showcased Tuesdays through Saturdays, the K-Allen Set perform in the Coach and Horses dining room on Fridays and Saturdays, and again in the Deacon Brodie on Sunday and Monday nights. The Royal Coach is one of the new local hotels to present live entertainment seven nights a week.

Bruno Fava's Friday And Saturday Prime Rib

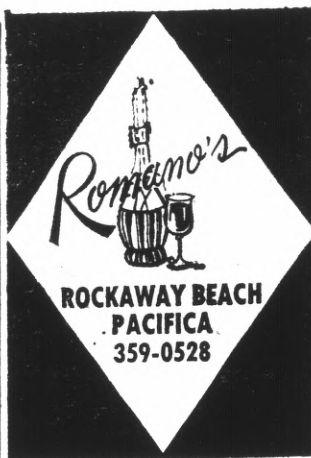

Although Chef Bruno Fava is widely known for his variety of Italian dishes, a typically American entree is the most frequently ordered item on weekends at his Bruno's restaurant in downtown San Mateo. It's a complete Prime Rib dinner, which is available only on Friday and Saturday nights. Next time you dine at The Franciscan at Fisherman's Wharf, glance at the table next to you. Chances are you will see a celebrity of one sort or another, for this world-famous restaurant is always being frequented by the rich, the popular and the famous. It was a special day for two young ladies, one recent Wednesday. Linda Giese and Barbara Schroder, the girls who organized the tremendous local welcome for members of the 101st Airborne "Screaming Eagles," were given a just tribute. In a special noon ceremony at the Villa Hotel, Linda and Barbara were presented with "First Citizen" awards by San Mateo County and the County Convention and Visitors Bureau. A couple from Chicago told Don Dianda at Doros in San Francisco that they had dined at many restaurants during their trip in the U.S. and his food was the best of any place in which they had dined.

Pat Montclair New Finocchio Face

Pat Montclair, a dazzling blond female impersonator with a fabulous wardrobe, is the newest member of Finocchio's cast. One of the most outstanding items in his wardrobe is a turkey feather boa which is 35 feet long. Songs made famous by Barbra Streisand is the specialty of this versatile entertainer. A la carte selections on the menu at Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant describes such appetizers as Cracked Crab, half or whole, and Steamed Clams, plain or Bordelaise, as well as Half Dozen Raw Eastern Oysters, in Half Shell, when in season. The salads are generous in size and attractively presented, with a choice of dressings. Among the heartier fare is Shrimp Curry and Rice and Baked Fish (Fisherman's style with Rice). The restaurant is as proud of the Veal Scaloppine and Chicken Cacciatore as of the variety of choice steaks. Parking is never a problem at the Lord Fletcher Inn, in Atherton. The posh restaurant is surrounded by a spacious parking lot, a much-needed appointment on weekends. Another convenience here, particularly on cold, rainy evenings, is the courteous valet parking.

Greek Taverna Entertainment

That sexy Miss who has been dancing up a storm these evenings at The Greek Taverna in North Beach is none other than Latifa, a girl of such lovely proportions that we suggest you stock around for the second and third shows of the evening. The music she undulates to is provided by the ever-popular Trio Orfeo. The Costa Brava restaurant, in San Francisco, has obtained 50 tickets for opening day of the Giants baseball season (Thursday, April 6). The first 50 to contact Bar Manager Jeff Santoro will have reservations, including the bus ride, from the restaurant to the ball park, and your ticket to the game. They also have 50 tickets for one night each month for the Giants games during the entire season. These tickets will be on Tuesday nights, commencing May 2, and will include dinner at the Costa Brava, tickets to the game with the same excellent seats, and the bus ride from the restaurant to the ball park. Miss California was guest of honor at the regional meeting of the American Society for Zero Defects at the San Francisco Hilton Inn. She is Kim Christine Hobson of Burlingame. She sat at the head table with the group's officers during a combined business-pleasure luncheon in the Inn's Terrace Room.

Night Time Dining Exciting At Nick Gusts

Powerful flood lights make night time dining exciting at The Moonraker, where Nick and Lorraine Gust have created a dining mecca right on the ocean front at Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, for those who prefer Continental cuisine expertly prepared (European-style). The organ strains of Don Kelly lends a touch of romance. Smiling waitresses, gaily costumed in off-the-shoulder blouses, serve the intriguing versions of enchiladas, tamales, tostadas, tacos, chiles rellenos and many other traditional dishes of Mexico at the Papagayo Room, another colorful restaurant owned and operated by Nick Gust. Located on the lower level of the same beachside building, the popular restaurant is open Wednesdays through Saturdays from 4 p.m. to 11 p.m.; Sundays, 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. Family-style dinners are served seven days a week at Nick's restaurant and lounge, situated just across the street and also fronting the ocean. Since Nick's features a varied menu from 10 a.m., it's not unusual to see large parties gathered here for breakfast. As you might know, this is a merry sector during the evening. There's an organ bar, presided over by Jim Payer, for song requests and singalongs, and dancing to the Del Carlo Trio.

Full Course Italian

Dinners Romano's Feature

While Enrico Romano is often referred to as the "Prince of Pizza makers," it is a stereotype he would like to have rectified. For as owner and proprietor of Romano's Italian restaurant (Rockaway Beach, Pacifica) he also takes great pride in his full-course Italian dinners. "Many people," he explains, "come here not for pizzas but for the dinner. Because they know I serve them the best without overdoing it on the portions. That's wasting food, to give too much, in my opinion." The Showboat in Burlingame is under complete new management with a new skipper, Leo Giorgetti, and a new crew. The group playing the danceable music, Wednesdays through Sundays, is the Sal Vergara Quartet. To avoid weekend crowds (with more floor space and less waiting) enjoy dinner dancing here early in the week. Incidentally, the cocktail hour features complimentary hors d'oeuvres. The exclusive Dubonnet Club, headed by Barbara Dagenais, held a festive dinner party at Lew Lehr's Steak House, in San Francisco's Marina district.

HOSPITABLE HOST — Norbert Wagner is co-owner as well as a master mixologist at La Cigogne, an elegant French restaurant in downtown San Mateo. Wagner shares the restaurant's ownership with his brother, Fernand, La Cigogne's critically acclaimed chef, and Rene Chagniot.

Home Delivered Paper Brings Out The Facts

Let Lou Ercoli of the Leaning Tower tell you about the secrets of coming home late and facing your wife. It seems Lou was out celebrating one recent evening with a couple of old college chums and returned home in the wee hours of the a.m. When he awakened, his wife asked what time he came in — and Lou casually replied, "Late, but not too late." Wouldn't you know? When Mrs. Ercoli went out for the morning paper it seems there were tire tracks on it from Lou's arrival home. The entire New York Rangers Hockey Team, in town to challenge the Seals, stayed at Fred and Jerry Rapp's Holiday Inn, South San Francisco, during their stay in the Bay Area. The dinner-theater package at the Mandarin Star restaurant, San Carlos, offers a big savings. Each patron can save from $1.80 to $3.30, with one price including theater ticket, dinner, tax, tip and free parking. Call Judy for further information. Ken Gilley, owner of the Prince of Wales, is a perfect example of the successful pub owner. Ken, who spent many years in England, returned to the States and opened the Olde Bull & Bush in San Francisco. He later opened the thriving San Mateo operation.

Fashion Preview At Fashionable Castaway

Credit Jim Pias, general manager of the Castaway, with keeping up with the latest happenings. With Spring just around the corner, Pias has arranged to have the latest ladies' fashions previewed every day, Tuesdays through Fridays, during luncheon hours at this exotic Coyote Point restaurant. The models are sleek and attractive, and the clothes are from Ron's Hawaiian in Hillsdale and Serramonte. Sunday brunch, which is served from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., is still thriving, with more and more guests staying over on Sunday to relax in the South Seas atmosphere. Champagne and an Island fruit buffet is also included. Choose from the Salad Bar (self-service), the Broiler, the Skillet at The Down Under, a well sought out restaurant on Taylor Street, San Francisco. Luncheon and dinner entree prices include salad, potato and vegetable du jour, French bread. If you're going to the theater, this is a splendid place in which to start off the evening. Judges, lawyers, top business executives and many famous sports figures congregate daily at Fabbro's in Redwood City during the mid-day. A tip of the hat to Owner Frank Fabbro for his knack of acquiring new patrons and the restaurant know-how to keep their lasting patronage.

New Owner For Kramer's San Bruno

There's a new ownership at Kramer's, a popular restaurant on El Camino Real in San Bruno. Chuck Salameh is his name, and he comes direct from Las Vegas to the Peninsula. Kramer's, under Salameh's direction, will open for business seven days a week, serving from 6 a.m. to 12 midnight. Salameh also takes over the post of chef, and you owe it to yourself to try his Daily Specials. Live music and dancing prevail every night at Dee-jay's, an elegant Belmont bistro located on the line between San Mateo and Belmont. Currently presenting the dance sounds, Tuesdays through Saturdays, is West, a great sounding group meeting with big approval. Luncheon tip: The superb buffet luncheon served at the new North China Inn. Service is from 11:30 a.m. (except Tuesday), and seven different taste treats are offered. Beer and wines are also available. Besides the regular dinner menu at The Red Cottage, Menlo Park, several specials, which are changed daily, are listed. The weekend specials, served both Saturday and Sunday, are Roast Tom Turkey and Baked Virginia Ham. The modest price includes soup or salad and dessert.

Jail's Problems

A demonstration aimed at gaining public attention kept prisoners and sheriff's deputies occupied at the San Francisco County jail west of San Bruno last week.

The demonstration had been rumored for some time and San Francisco Sheriff Richard Hongisto spent the day there. He came away agreeing with the inmates' complaints about poor food and conditions.

Hongisto said two-thirds of the 674 inmates took part in the demonstration. There were no injuries but two prisoners were sent to solitary confinement for throwing burning matches from a cell tier.

The prisoners yelled, pounded, broke windows and burned mattresses, papers and books, hurling them into the corridors. The fires were extinguished by deputies, who reported only minor damage.

The disturbance started at noon when most of the inmates refused to eat the lunch of cold cuts, salad and coffee.

Hongisto spent the afternoon talking with any prisoner who wanted to talk, reporting things had calmed down by 5 p.m. Most of the inmates accepted the evening meal of cheese and bologna sandwiches, the sheriff said.

Hongisto had eaten the lunch himself and said "I can tell you it was inadequate and tasted bad."

The inmates also were protesting a lack of sheets for bunks and or enough mattresses for everyone, poor conditions in the jail visiting room and a lack of recreation facilities.

Extra deputies were called in to stand by, but reportedly weren't needed.

Hongisto said the jail could possibly return to its regular schedule as early as today.

Hongisto blamed the jail's shortcomings on an inadequate budget. He said his budget allocated only 63 cents per prisoner per day for food, while most adjoining counties provide more than $1.

A week ago some 400 prisoners in the jail facility atop the San Francisco Hall of Justice refused to eat lunch in a similar protest.

Hongisto was to meet with the San Francisco grand jury today to outline some improvements he has made in his two months in office and to arrange for a grand jury tour of the San Bruno jail.

All-Ireland Team Remains Unbeaten

In Under Eight Soccer League play, the All-Ireland team defeated the Westlaker 66ers, 1-0, to remain undefeated. Jeff Glosier for the Westlakers broke through the Irish defense only to miss a clean shot by a narrow margin.

The lone score came on a ground shot which was not seen by goalie Jason Bruni as he was screened out on the play.

Outstanding Westlaker players included fullbacks Kurt Ricci and Joe Condon, who kept some of the pressure off the goalie with clearing passes to forwards Jeff Glosier, Frank Wilsey, and Angelo Dapello; and Paul Abrahams, who was the steady factor of the entire defense at center half.

In the Under 12 Years League play, it was the Westlakers and Tigers playing to a 1-1 tie. The Westlakers tied the score late in the game as centerforward Pierre Martino dribbled through the tough Tiger defense and then passed to Keith Rucker who scored on a great shot.

Defensive ball was the name of this game as defenders Ray Marroquin, Tom Wilsey, and Charles Lee were continuously clearing the ball upfield. Halfback Jeff Gold and Brenda Spriz, and Wing Roldan Quiros showed good offensive team play throughout the contest.

South S.F. Triumphs

By STEVE JOHNSON

Serra and San Carlos, two prep baseball teams figured to be plagued by the curse of inexperience, used some of their youthful strength on Friday to take opening round wins in the San Carlos Tournament.

The Pads, behind sophomore Carlos Roman's perfect four-inning relief stint, took Washington 3-1, while the Dons scored six runs in the sixth inning to edge Hillsdale, 6-5.

In other prep action Mills beat Woodside 5-1. Carlmont fell to Campbell 2-1. South City blanked Menlo-Atherton 3-0, and was led by John Racanelli's Crestmoor ripped Terra Nova 2-0.

Jeff Dumps Westmoor

By JERRY LITTELL

Who says the little man has no place in modern day basketball?

Without the minute fellows in the Jefferson High School lineup the Indians probably wouldn't be packing up today for this week's trip to Stanford University and the Central Coast Section playoffs.

But because of the efforts of the two smallest players on the court Wednesday, guards Ray Viado (5-8) and Joe Randolph (5-7), Jefferson will represent the North Peninsula League against the winner of tomorrow night's Hillsdale-Sacred Heart game today on the Farm.

The outside shooting of that duo led the round-robin titleholders to a 66-60 victory over the Westmoor Rams, who had forced the Shaughnessy playoffs to one extra game by downing Jefferson four days before.

Westmoor came right out with the same defensive notions that had earned the Rams that previous victory — stop the ball from getting inside to 6-6 center Ken Smith. And they accomplished that goal most of the game.

But they hadn't counted on a sizzling outside performance from Viado, who just kept getting hotter and hotter as the game progressed before he ended up with 23 points with an amazing 10 buckets in 13 tries, all from long range.

The Rams, in fact, were leading by six, 18-12, when Randolph and Viado cut loose. Randolph popped three outside shots off three Ram turnovers to open the second period before Randolph began his shooting spree that sparked the Indians to as much as a seven-point lead.

Th. foul-laden first half proved beneficial to both teams' game plans. Westmoor forced Smith to commit four personals before half but high-scoring Ram forward Gary Stoller collected a like amount.

Combine that foul situation with the tight inside Ram zone and it added up to a complete blanket over Smith for three-plus quarters. The talented Indian center didn't get his first bucket, a tip, until one minute later. In fact the Ram defense inside was so complete that 10 of Smith's 16 points came in the final quarter when Westmoor was forced to come out and chase the ball.

But by then Viado had made it all elementary. His four third-period buckets pushed Jeff ahead by five, 38-33, and his six point fourth period kept the Indians ahead by at least four in the period.

Smith played an excellent second half and managed to stay away from that fifth personal. Stoller, meanwhile, fouled out with 3:19 left with Westmoor trailing by four. The Rams never got any closer.

Westmoor scored an impressive semi-final victory over South San Francisco Feb. 29.

Board strength again provided Westmoor with the needed edge to down the sluggish Warriors. Center Leo Biederman and Stoller dominated both ends of the court and nullified the Warriors' inside game with excellent position on defense.

Five separate occasions the Warriors were called for offensive fouls when attempting their inside attack.

"Those offensive calls really broke our back," admitted Warrior coach Gene Mullin. "It took the heart out of our inside game."

and we just didn't have enough in reserve to make a surge."

Westmoor's zone defense fell back far enough to allow the Warriors the perimeter shot but no one was hit for SSF. Forward Brad Lefler got a rugged 19 on muscle shots but after him there was little.

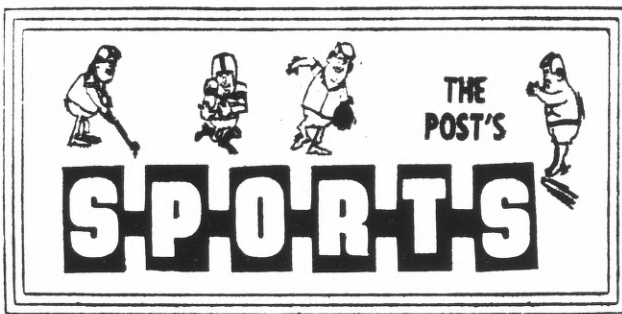

Stoller, Long and Ted Grey, meanwhile, pressed the relentless Sam offense forward realizing that even on missed shots they would have a better-than-average chance at getting the offensive rebound.

After a rather tight first half, with four fouls early in the third period on Stoller, the Rams opened up as much as an 11-point lead on Jim Woods' backward layin and got it to as much as 13 early in the fourth period on Stoller's baseline bomb.

Utilizing their stall offense throughout the fourth period the Rams were able to use up the clock and keep the margin around 10 points at the same time.

It could have been worse — Westmoor missed 13 free throws including six bonus attempts.

All-County Team

Mills High's junior forward Don Weaver headed the Post All-County basketball team in voting. The 6-5 frontliner, whose rebounding and scoring led the Vikings to a 23-3 record, was a unanimous choice.

Others on the first team were 6-6 Menlo-Atherton forward Jim Watts, 6-6 Jefferson center Ken Smith, 6-2 Hillsdale forward Rod Williams, 6-3 Carlmont center Ervin Brown and 6-0 Hillsdale guard Ron Doss.

First man on the second team was 6-1 Capuchino forward Rob Silver. Others were Aragon center Tom Flavin. South San Francisco center Brad Lefler, M-A forward Howie Dallmar, San Carlos guard Steve Worthington and Burlingame guard Doc Scheppeler.

Honorable mention went to Sequoia guard Tim Mehan, Serra center Vince Tammaro, Aragon guard Pete Popin, Capuchino guard Peter Santora and Carlmont guard Greg Fobbs.

Weaver, the second leading scorer in the MPL, consistently led Mills in both scoring and rebounds. When everything else failed for the Vikings, it was Weaver who got the job done. He shot from the corner, he shot from underneath . . . when pressure got tight, he would even wheel and drive past everybody from a high post.

The expression on his face never changes when he plays; it's deadpan, and bodes ill for any opponent. He's only a junior, like the rest of the Mills front line, and will be back to bedevil the league next year.

Smith is a center, not a forward, but he does the same thing for Jeff that Weaver did for Mills. He was a scoring leader and made it all look easy.

Brown and Watts had some interesting confrontations as their teams fought several times for the SPAL title. Watts team won, but Brown didn't lose. Brown always looked taller than his 6-3 stature; he rebounded against anybody and specialized in blocking shots. He set a Carlmont career scoring record with 740 points.

Williams' exploits are well-known. He set a single season MPL scoring record this year as a sophomore. He was also a top rebounder, although he's only 6-2.

Hillsdale can't help playing well when Doss is playing well. When he's on, he can make a game, and he's on a not more often than not. Doss is the guy who makes the play no one else would even consider trying. The 6-0 guard specializes in rough, aggressive one-on-one drives, and is a top rebounder.

Falcon Spikes Beat Lowell

Crestmoor High's track team got two fine early season performances beating visiting Lowell in a practice dual meet, 73-66.

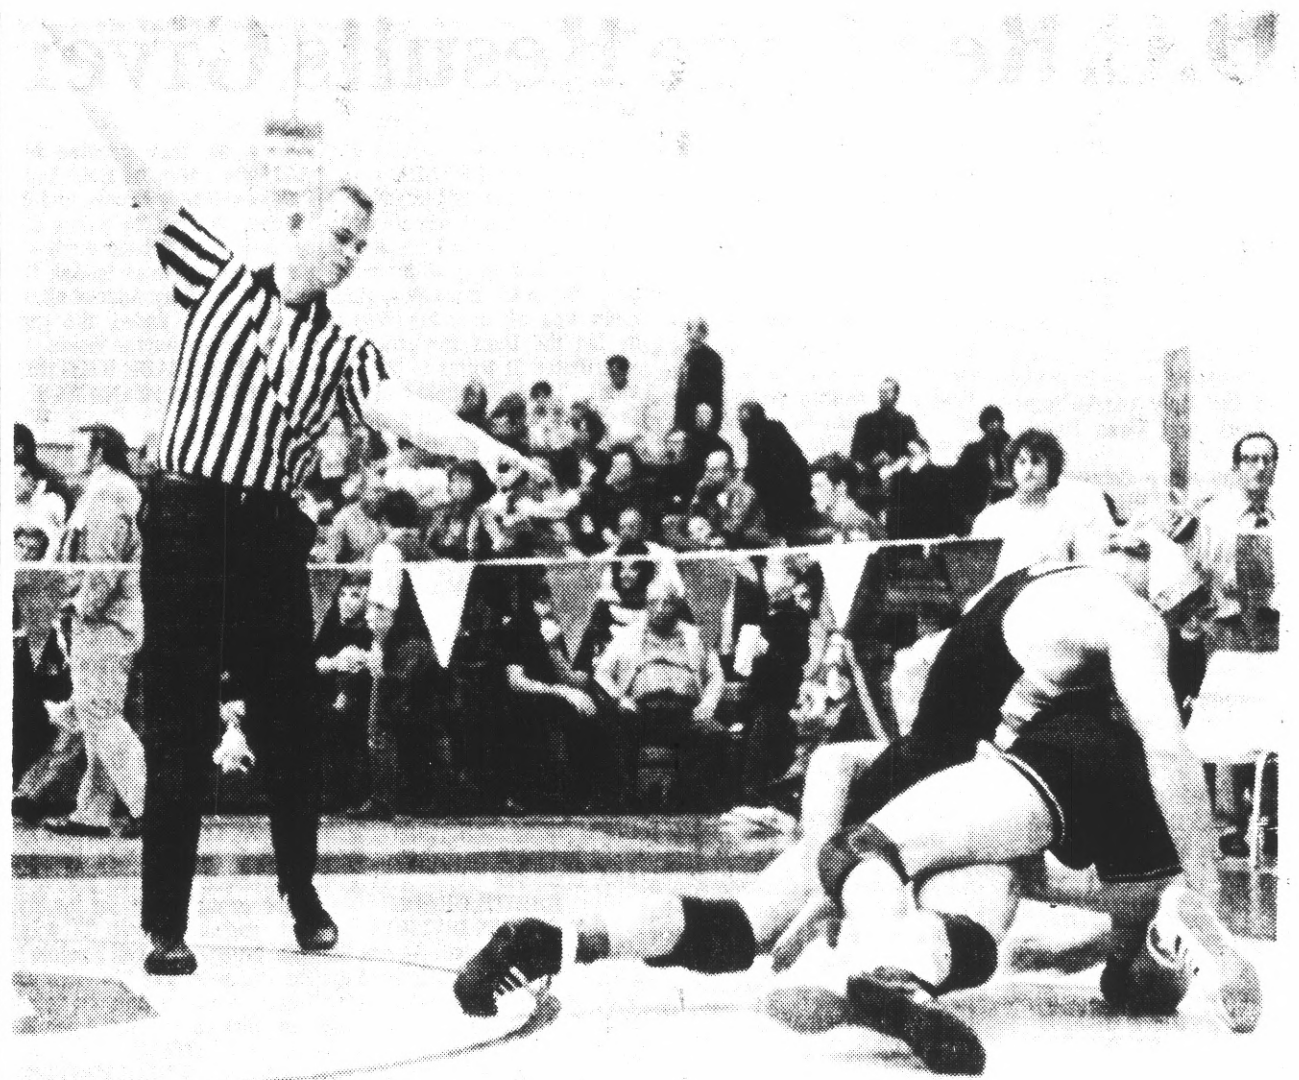

Bart Pierce broke the Falcon school record in the 180 low hurdles with a 19.5 clocking; that's the kind of performance that's usually worked up to later in a season.

John Novall was a double winner for Crestmoor in the 220 and 440, going 23.8 and 52.8.

And Fred Geipo beat the triple jump field with a 43-1 mark.

THE GOLDEN GATE Conference won four of ten individual titles at last weekend's California Junior College Association wrestling tournament at Sky-

Colt Grappler Defeats Field

By FRED BAER

Hal Morris beat every wrestler he faced, including the meet favorite, in the California Junior College Association state tournament, which wound up its two (plus) day run at Skyline early Sunday morning.

It didn't earn the Canada College soph a championship, but the 190-pounder took a creditable third place by easily defeating Gary Ramos of American River, 8-2, in the finals.

It was Ramos who had edged Morris, 6-5, in the first round. So Morris had to come back through the consolation bracket — and he did so in most impressive fashion.

He beat Rich Brown of Long Beach, 19-2; topped Gary Nunnelly of Shasta, 14-8; and pinned state favorite Paul Fritz of Foothill in 4:12 for the right to meet Ramos again in the third-place finals. (Ramos had lost in the championship semifinals.)

Morris accounted for all of Canada's 12½ points and 18th place finish in the 53 team field, the only San Mateo County college to place.

Golden Gate Conference champion Chabot won the team title before 1,500 spectators in the 15th annual event, totaling 52 points to 48 for El Camino, 14½ for De Anza, GGC co-champ San Jose CC's 40, and 38½ by defending champion Cerritos. Diablo Valley, the 1970 champion, was sixth with 35½ — giving the GGC three of the top six finishers.

Chabot thereby joined DVC as the only colleges north of Fresno to wear the state crown.

Imperial Valley won the small division title with 26 points to 16½ for Cuesta.

El Camino heavyweight Tom

Hazell was voted the outstanding wrestler of the tourney and decided Bill Van Worth of Bakersfield, 10-2, in the finals. Chabot's lone champion was John Needham at 177 pounds. Diablo grabbed a pair of golds with Rodger Warner (150) and Cliff Hatch (158).

The only returning champ, Bill Long of Mt. San Antonio, finished fifth at 158 pounds. Hatch was runner-up to him last year.

Mal Alexander of San Jose took the 190 class, giving the Golden Gate four of the ten individual titles.

Netters One Game Behind Lucky Six in Hunch Cage

The Adult 3-Man Huncha great game for the Gators and League, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division, completed six weeks of play with these results:

Six Foot and Under Division — The Netters remain only one game behind the Lucky Six by virtue of their 41-28 drubbing of Pedroni A.C.

Roy Reitz and Dennis Flannery led the Netters' offensive attack with 19 and 16 points respectively. Reitz continues to hit from outside and he is complemented by the inside jumping ability of Flannery to keep the offense moving. Rich Reitz played a great defensive game for the winners and contributed six points to the Netters' totals. Al Spitzer was outstanding for Pedroni A.C., as he banged home 12 points in a losing cause. The Lucky Six continue to win this week they downed a determined Gators team by a final score of 40-32.

Norm Jang was all over the court for the winners as he scored 22 points from every angle on the floor. Steve Vokenoff and Frank Ng were also impressive for the Lucky Six as they scored 10 and 8 points, respectively. Frank Cross played

Lou Matteucci, with 12, and Larry Peoples, with 10 points, respectively, led the Soul Shots in scoring. Others who looked impressive in a losing cause were Mike Furch — 4 points, Joe Skaar — 4 points and "leaper" Leighton Ah Po with 3 points for the losers. Southwood's GAA Downs Faculty '5'

Members of the ninth grade GAA basketball team at Southwood Junior High School scored a thrilling victory over members of the Southwood faculty recently.

The final score of the contest was 25-15, with the GGA the victors.

The leading scorer for the GAA was Jan Bishop with eight points. Other GAA members who contributed to the point total were: Loretta Fornaciari, 6; Sharon Volkmer, 5; Rita Harrington and Tina Low, 2 each; and Jan Griffin and Nancy McGinness, 1 each. Top defensive players for the GAA were Carol Goodrich, Flora McLean, Barbara Henkle and Roberta Ruthen.

The coach of the Southwood Faculty All Stars was Nick Cruseck, assistant principal at Southwood. The team had a total of 12 members, but they were unable to stop the ninth graders. The top scorer for the All-Stars was Dribbler Sinclair with 6 points. Other All-Stars who added to the point production were: Jumping Jack Connor, 4; Coach Cruseck, 3; and Dangerous Dave Freeman, 2. Playing a tough defense for the All-Stars were: Acey-Ducey Strand, Stretch Janopoulos, Frenchy Grialou, Anzey Anzels, Twinkle Toes Sullivan, Hot Shot Schottelkorb, and Road-Runner Galvin.

Pitching Is A Factor

Pitching was the dominant factor as the prep baseball season opened with three non-league games Wednesday.

Crestmoor, behind an impressive performance by senior pitcher Jim Raymond, shut out Serramonte, 2-0, while Carlmont fell to San Jose, 3-2, and Hillsdale was edged by Sequoia, 3-2.

Raymond had a no-hitter going for six and one-third innings until the Regents' Don Theuner finally touched him for a single. His 10 strikeouts and zero walks were enough to overcome the combined hurling efforts of Serramonte's Theuner and John Stack, who struck out six and walked two between them.

Ron Kohles got the big hit for the Falcons.

The Giants Dead Already?

To hear the odds-makers and prognostication experts tell it, the Giants are already dead.

The Dodgers have all that young talent a year more mature, and have added Tommy John to an already solid pitching staff, and have mixed in Frank Robinson for power and leadership, and maybe even Billy Grabarkewitz will be in good health — and Billy Singer can't possibly finish 10-17 again. Atlanta still has Henry Aaron, and Rico Carty may be back, and their three top pitchers — Phil Niekro, Ron Reed, and Pat Jarvis, don't figure for another combined 34-42 slate. Houston and Cincinnati helped each other with a big trade so that Cincinnati now has more speed and Houston more power not to mention five top starters, and there's just no way that Johnny Bench is going to hit .238 again, and even if he does, the Reds have Bobby Tolan back.

So, the experts concede, the Giants may finish third if everything breaks just right for them.

What most of them seem to forget is that the Giants DID win their division last year, and man-handled the eventual World Champion Pirates during regular season play, which is more indicative of a team's true strength than post season series. And they did it without a 20-game winner, without a .300 hitter—or as a matter of fact, without a .290 hitter—without a regular third baseman, with a 40-year-old center fielder and a rookie shortstop, and without Willie McCovey.

Analyze the Giants' prospects objectively, and they stand to be as improved—or at least as well-fixed speculatively—as the rest of them.

For one thing, the Giants figure as well as anybody in the league to have TWO 20-game winners this year. Sam McDowell has averaged 15 a year for the past seven years for Cleveland, a club which only once during that period was even remotely a contender, and which has NEVER given McDowell—or any other pitcher—much batting support during that time. True, the Giants gave up Gaylord Perry to get McDowell, which in the eyes of many was like trading 20 games for 20 games. Not true. McDowell is four years younger than Perry and probably reaching his peak, whereas Gaylord is past his. He won 16 strictly on guts last year. Maybe it was age, maybe it was the lowered mound, maybe it was the added vigilance on his wet one, but the fact is that he seldom had the stuff or control of his previous years with the Giants. Juan Marichal won 18 in what he considered a relatively bad year. He admitted that it was just in the second half of the season that he finally began to adjust to the lower mound and the fact that his fast one may not have all the zip it did a few years ago. A thinking pitcher, Marichal, with a perhaps slightly altered pitching pattern — and, undoubtedly, a new pitch of some kind—may be in for one of his better years.

True, the Giants don't have that added veteran starter so coveted by Charlie Fox, but they claim as much young pitching potential as did the Dodgers—John Cumberland, Jim Barr, Frank Reberger, Dennis Carrithers, Jim Willoughby, John D'Aquisto and Steve Stone.

They may have three or four .300 hitters this year. Bobby Bonds did it two years ago, as did Dick Kietz, and a healthy Ken Henderson and Willie McCovey are certainly capable of it. And forget that .300 if McCovey can deliver 35-40 homers and Dietz can crank up for 25-30.

Chris Speier now has a year's experience as a regular and looks like a promising switch-hitter, and if the sensational young Dave Kingman can't make it at third, he can at least perhaps inspire Alan Gallagher to give 150 per cent instead of his usual 110, and play the outfield well enough often enough to give Willie Mays that 80-100 games he needs to stay sharp, rather than last year's 140. And if nothing else, Kingman could be the biggest pinch-hitting threat the Giants have had in years. And don't count out Jim Hart for that kind of duty, either. Even if his arm doesn't make it back, reports are that his bat may.

So, you see, the Giants are as good as the grass on the other side of the fence, after all. And give them that experienced starter and a helluva defensive catcher, and they'd run away from the pack!

One of the biggest laughs we've had in weeks came from the now notorious Chones case out of Marquette. From all over the country came these bleats from big-time college coaches concerning the ethics of professional basketball.

College coaches should be among the last to complain about the ethics of recruiting. At least in the pros, most of the negotiations are the table. You want a million, kid? Here it is. No fooling around with camouflaged jobs or anonymous "donations" from alumni, and all the rest of the sordid, ulcer producing tactics big time college football and basketball recruiters must suffer just to win an extra five games and make that top 20.

As someone said — who knows, maybe it was me — the difference between an amateur and a professional is that a professional gets paid by check, and amateur by cash.

STILL ON BASKETBALL. And there's one BB statistic that seems a little more distortion prone than the rest of them. That is number of assists. Now, to get an assist, a player must feed the ball to a teammate who scores a basket. A guy may make the greatest pass off the trickiest piece of down-floor dribbling ever seen, but if the man he gets it to doesn't score, there is no assist recorded.

Therefore, if the best playmaker in the history of the game happens to get stuck with a poor shooting team, he's nothing more than perhaps an obscure guard who averages 10 points a game. By the same token, just a fair play-maker might luck into a team with shooters like Jerry West and Gail Goodrich, average eight assists a game to go with his 8-10 points a game, and be a perennial all-pro.

We wouldn't have any idea of how to solve the inequity, and perhaps we exaggerate somewhat, but you get the point.

THE MORE WE SEE of college basketball stalls and the absolute dullness they promote, the more we're for a college 24 second or 30 second rule. We know that the coaches who are against such a rule feel that stalling is a legitimate part of the game and that it takes a special kind of skill itself, but we can't help thinking of the fact that basketball is the only game we know of where a team can't get penalized for not putting the ball in play.

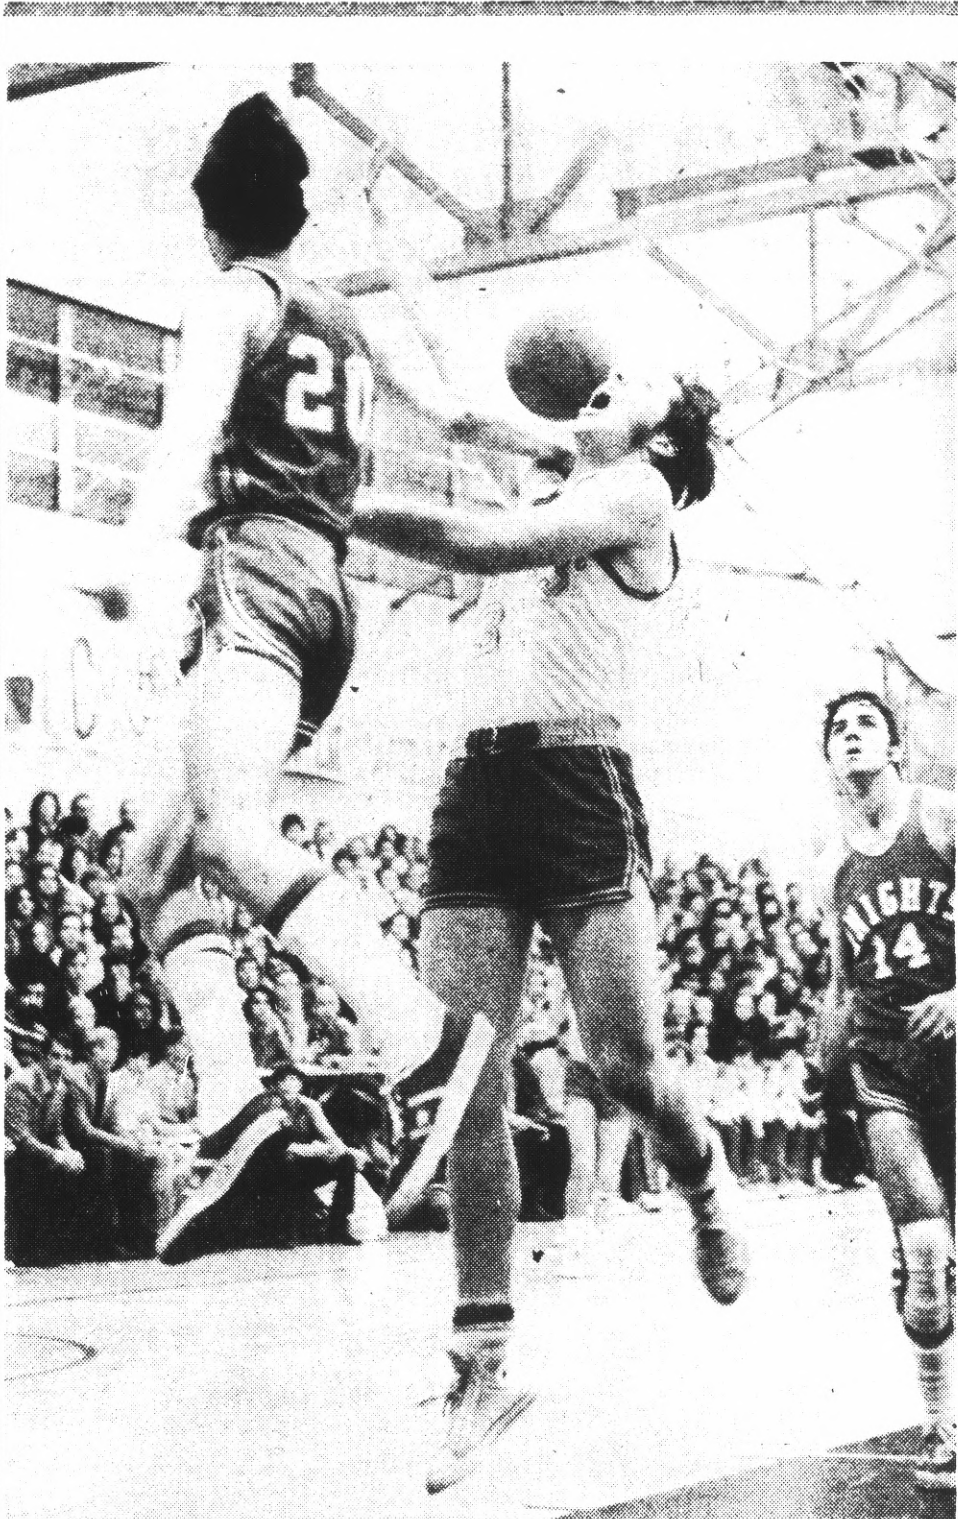

LOCAL NOTES: Final, official San Francisco State football statistics were recently released, and if the Gators' 5-6 season (as compared with '70's 0-9-1) wasn't enough consolation to hard-working head man Vic Rowan, then perhaps some of the new records were.

Among individual records were: running back Aaron Rudolph ran the fifth longest sprint from scrimmage in history — 75 yards against Hayward State. Rudolph also had the sixth best single running season a Gator ever had — 645 net yards. Still with a year to go, he currently ranks 14th in career rushing totals.

Split and Jeff Jensen edged into fourth place in career receptions with 63 catches for 1047 yards. His 1971 total of 41 for 589 and four TD's was the seventh best season ever enjoyed by a Gator receiver.

Sophomore quarterback Kirk Waller finished eighth in NCAA passing standings and threw the two longest completed passes from scrimmage in SFSC history — 63 yards to flanker Junior Square and 62 to Jensen. He also moved into the second spot in a single season among Gator passers with 350 attempts, 153 completions, 2003 yards and 15 TD's. He already ranks sixth among all time Gator passers.

On defense, safety Frank Oross ranks as the third best pass interceptor, and kicker Tony Martin's 25-25 PAT's set a new record.

RARITY OF RARITIES — Hillsdale guard Scott McWhirter (20) punches ball away from Mills counterpart Andy Amstrup to accomplish something seldom done in basketball — thwart a breakup lay-in. Hillsdale Wins

By CHRIS STAVE

Hillsdale High guard Ron Doss explained it: "We were high when we beat Mills Saturday, we were still high when we came to school Monday, and it carried right through tonight.

"We came out in the first half and busted 'em."

That's an apt description; Hillsdale had as good a half as a team can have and went on to beat Mills 65-53 in the Mid-Peninsula League championship game last week at Capuchino.

Mills was 12-0 in the regular season, so shares the MPL title with Hillsdale. But Hillsdale will be the MPL's representative in the CCS Region I action against Sacred Heart, Friday night at CSM.

Mills fell behind 22-13 in the first quarter as Doss, Wayne Bunker and MPL scoring champ Rod Williams canned a wide assortment of shots and free throws.

Hillsdale outscored Mills 15-7 in the second quarter and took a 37-20 lead to the locker room at the half.

Hillsdale shot 75 per cent from the floor in the first half and 100 per cent from the free throw line — 12 of 16 and 13 of 13. Hillsdale gave away all sorts of height on the boards, but the rebounds were dead even.

But even statistics like that are inadequate; they don't tell the story of Williams and center Jeff Schmidt making brilliant steals and driving for layins; of Schmidt holding Mills star Don Weaver to three first half points; of the 6-0 Doss leaping high in the air to block a shot by 6-6½ Tom MacKenzie.

Scot Spikes Get a Scare; S.S.F. Loses

Carlmont High got a scare from Balboa, San Mateo won its first and Crestmoor got its second in prep track action on the Peninsula.

San Mateo improved most of its times over Wednesday's meet to dump South City, 89-47. The Cats got their usual fine performance from Keith Nakada, who won both the triple jump and long jump.

South City's top performer was Tom Swartzell, who got a triple in the shotput, discus and high hurdles. Swartzell was most of the show for SSF; the Warriors got two other firsts.

2 Trojans All-CNC

Skyline College didn't win any titles in Camino Norte Conference basketball this season, but the Trojans must have impressed someone.

Two Trojans were voted to the All-CNC first team and another made honorable mention.

Paul Reynolds, the 6-7 sophomore center, and Matt Krieltich, the 6-1 sophomore guard who won the CNC scoring race, made first team. Mike Larios, a 6-1 sophomore guard who was 14th on the conference scoring list, was honorable mention.

Canada's sophomore center Ricky Watts was the only Colt chosen; he made second team.

Colt players did have four scorers in the CNC's top 15, though: guard Billy Lewis (5), Watts (7), Steve Kircher (9) and Ray Rotolo (13). All but Watts will return next year.

The players nominated for the California Junior College Association team for the National AAU tourney were Wayne Kemp of Contra Costa (who finished second behind Krieltich in the scoring race), 6-9 center Floyd Allen of Contra Costa (third behind Krieltich) and guard Joe Smith of Marin (fourth behind Krieltich).

The Golden Gate Conference stages its first all-star game tomorrow night when champion Laney hosts the league's other top basketball players at 7:30.

All of the league's top scorers will be involved except No. 2 John Crosby and No. 6 Dave Riley, both of College of San Mateo. The Bulldogs were shut out in the All-GGC balloting, which was topped by Player of the Year Brady Allen of Laney.

Ken Cobb of Diablo Valley, another first team choice, won the league scoring title with 283 points, well ahead of Crosby's 257 total. Riley ranked sixth with 216, just behind Allen's 236 total.

Tomorrow's game will be utilized to give Laney a tough tune-up for the state tournament, since the top-seeded GGC received a bye for this week-end's regionals and advances directly to the quarterfinals at Ventura, March 9.

Proceeds from the all-star game will help send a California Junior College Association all-star team to the National AAU tournament in London, Ky., March 24-28.

Competition for all-league was so tough this year that 1971 GGC co-player of the year Art Williams of Merritt didn't make even the second team this time. And first-teamer Greg Smith of Merritt dropped to the second squad this time.

CSM Spikes Hurting

Injury-riddled College of San Mateo had difficulty putting together many quartets for the Golden Gate Conference Relays Saturday.

Distance aces Jose Cortez and Scott Carvey were the brightest Bulldog aces on the Chabot track.

And, in the field, CSM managed a second place in the high jump relay with a trio of Cesar Oravillo (6-4), Ron Bosch (6-2), and Jim May (6-2).

San Mateo couldn't cope with a Diablo Valley threesome, headed by Greg Redmond's 6-8 jump, which gave the Vikings a 19-3 total to the Bulldogs' 18-8.

Diablo won four other events en route to taking the team crown with 104 points, ahead of Chabot (90) and Merritt (87) — the latter is CSM's visiting foe in Saturday morning's dual meet opener. The Bulldogs were sixth with 36 points.

In the meet opening three-mile, Cortez (14:33.2) and Carvey (15:00.2) ran two-three behind the meet record 14:18.6 by Bob Smith of Foothill. The Bulldog duo came back to duel Diablo in the four-mile relay, although having to settle for second in 18:22.0 to the Vikings' 18:18.2. Actually Carvey had a step on DVC's Dave Huston entering the gun lap but the Viking ran a 63 second last lap for the win.

John Merslich led off the CSM milers at 4:55.6, followed by Ron Pagan's 4:40.6, a 4:29.5 by Corte, and a 4:36.5 by Carvey.

San Jose's Al Hall had an outstanding day, winning the open 100 (9.7) and high hurdles (14.4) — plus a 14.2 high stick leg on San Jose's runnerup shuttle hurdle relay and a 48.4 leg on the Jaguars' second place mile relay.

Diablo erased CSM's nine-year-old meet record of 10:15.4 in the distance medley relay with a 10:12.4 clocking. Viking Jack Bentz ran 3:02.1 for the 1:20 on that quartet and came back with a 1:52.4 anchor 880 in the sprint medley relay.

Saint Pitchers Sinned Against

By TERRY FREETHY

Even the brisk weather couldn't cool the hot bats of the Canada College baseball team.

The Colts pounded Ohlone pitchers for 17 hits as they won their first game in the Peninsula JC Tournament, 16-3.

Trailing by a run in the second inning, Canada struck for two on a bases-loaded single by shortstop Rob Brassea.

Canada hung on to that slim lead until the fifth inning, when the Saint pitcher met his Dresden — it was saturation bombing all the way.

With a hit, a walk and an error the Colts loaded the bases. Lead-off hitter John Bostic lined one into the right center field alley and wound up standing nonchalantly on third, with three runs across ahead of him.

Second baseman Ray Cocco followed with a sharp single to right scoring Bostic, two more runs followed and Canada led,

8-1.

In the sixth Colt pitcher Fildencio Herrera began to tire. The Saints scored a run and loaded the bases before Bob Walter was called on to relieve. Walter set the next three batters down in order.

In the eighth inning the Colt destruction crew went right on; it strung together eight hits and all but one man scored.

Canada will meet Foothill tomorrow; Foothill was also a first round winner, having beaten Skyline, the fourth team in the tourney, 10-4.

IN YOUR JOB SEARCH
There are no second prizes or honorable mentions. Just lots of competition from people with qualifications at least as good as yours.
We Can Help You Win
If you are accustomed to earnings of $10,000 per yr. or more you need professional guidance to make your job search successful. You need an office away from home, someone to type and mail your letters, answer your phone and do all the other things you took for granted before. You might even need a professionally prepared resume or a creative hardhitting campaign designed to reach the companies that hire people with your background and experience.
We can provide all these services and even more when you become a member of our EXECUTIVE BANK. YOUR COST? Probably less than one car payment.
Investigate now—there is no obligation. Call, write or visit for free information.
